RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON PLAGUE IN CALCUTTA FOR THE YEAR MAY 1901 TO JUNE 1902.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MEDICAL (PLAGUE).

Calcutta, the 27th November 1902.

RESOLUTION No. 1795 ^{Medl.}_{r.}

READ—

The letter of the Chairman, Calcutta Corporation, No. 9922H., dated the 2nd September 1902, forwarding the Annual Report of the Special Health Officer on Plague in Calcutta during the year 1901-1902.

THE Acting Lieutenant-Governor has read with great interest the report submitted by Major H. E. Deane, R.A.M.C., Special Health Officer, on plague in Calcutta for the year May 1901 to June 1902.

2. Following the course which it took in the two previous years, the disease, which existed in a sporadic form from May to December, broke out in an epidemic form in January, and died down again in June. Compared with the outbreak in 1901, the epidemic began earlier in the year under review, its growth and decline were rapid, and it failed to reach the same degree of intensity. The total number of recorded deaths is shown as 6,925 against 7,398 in 1901 and 7,373 in 1900. The number of attacks reported was 7,418, and the percentage of deaths was 93·3. The mortality among cases seen alive was 71·6 per cent. and among cases admitted to hospital 82·2. This would appear to indicate that a number of cases in which the patients recovered were not reported. The ratio of deaths to attacks in India generally is 77·3 per cent., while the ratio in the chief towns of India is 83·3 per cent. In Bengal, outside Calcutta, the percentage of deaths last year was 86·1, but it is impossible to say whether this lower percentage is due to more healthy conditions in the mufassal and to the greater facilities which there exist for evacuating houses, or to defective reporting and diagnosis. Separate enquiries show that in Calcutta there is still some concealment of cases which do not end fatally, especially among Muhammadans, but the Acting Lieutenant-Governor is disposed to agree with Major Deane that on the whole the mortality from plague is accurately recorded. The proof of this is that the record accounts fully for the excess of mortality in the town.

3. Major Deane's report discusses with great caution the various conclusions which may be suggested from the experience of the last three years as to the course of the disease, the cause of infection, and the methods of preventing the spread of plague, and it would appear that our knowledge of the subject has not materially advanced. He is inclined to think that the spread of the disease in Calcutta, as compared with other towns of India, is to some extent checked by the comparatively free ventilation of the city and the exposure of the germs to the action of sun and wind which is caused by the existence of bustis and other open spaces. The conditions specially favourable for plague are darkness and absence of ventilation; and where they prevail, as in Wards Nos. V, VI, VII and VIII, the epidemic is severe. In bustis the cases are more scattered than among the crowded masonry buildings and narrow streets of the wards noted above. These facts show the necessity of opening up these wards with streets, and of carrying out the improvements suggested by the Building Commission which considered the subject in 1897. With regard to infection, Major Deane is disposed to think that the disease is not highly contagious, but that the infectious matter is conveyed by the air or some other medium to the localities which are suitable for its growth. He is not in favour of the theory that infection is carried by rats, though this opinion is strongly held by the District Medical Officers.

4. With regard to the measures of defence against plague, Major Deane argues that it is of the greatest importance to provide for the immunity of man and his surroundings. It appears to be impracticable in the present conditions of life in Calcutta to provide an artificial immunity, and the fact that only 40 persons were inoculated during the year confirms the conclusion. The Acting Lieutenant-Governor, however, observes that in some conditions inoculation is practicable, and attention is directed to the successful results which were obtained in the district of Gaya during the epidemic of 1901, an account of which is given in the extract appended.

5. Of the other more practicable measures of defence against plague, the report adds testimony to the value of disinfection, especially when it is accompanied by the demolition of infected huts. The effect of demolition could not be fully tested, as it was, in accordance with the rules, confined to non-masonry buildings, and in many cases could not be carried out until the epidemic had effected a lodgment. The result, as stated by Major Deane, was that "many lives were saved by demolition. Only three or four cases occurred among the inhabitants after removal," and these may have been due to previous infection. The Acting Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to observe that the action taken in this direction was successful. It is not, however, capable of great extension, as it is difficult to house the families whose huts are destroyed. But such demolition is evidently of considerable value in clearing away centres of the disease, which could not be removed by disinfection. The evidence of the value of disinfection continues to increase, and it is satisfactory to learn that the disinfection of every plague-infected room and of the surroundings of the houses has been carried out with the general good-will of the people. There is no suggestion in the report that a general disinfection of dangerous localities should be carried out in anticipation of plague, as was done in 1900, and the experience of the past year seems to show that such action is not required. It is satisfactory to find that no serious difficulty has been found in carrying out the work of the department. Advice and warnings have generally induced the owners or occupants of huts to carry out the work of demolition, while there was no opposition to the disinfecting operations. The Corporation are co-operating in the efforts to stop the disease by the sanitary improvement of bustis and other parts of the town.

6 The Acting Lieutenant-Governor cordially acknowledges the good work done during the year by the Special Health Officer and the District Officers and their staffs. He regrets to notice that there were 13 cases of plague among the staff, but it appears that the cases were, generally of mild type, and it is not clear that they were contracted in the course of plague duty. The thanks of the Government are due to Major Deane and the District Medical Officers for their reports and notes on the year's work.

By order of the Acting Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

E. W. COLLIN,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

INOCULATION AGAINST PLAGUE.

Extract from a Note recorded by the District Magistrate of Gaya in regard to the Inoculation against Plague in that District in 1901.

PARA —8. In the Gaya town some 3,716 persons were inoculated by the Civil Surgeon and his assistants up to the 31st March 1901. Careful enquiry was made to discover if any of these persons became attacked with plague, and if they were, to record the result. I should note here that the plague germ is supposed to incubate for eight or ten days, which means that the germ may attack a person to-day, but that person may not develop signs of the disease for eight or ten days. Now, of all the 3,716 persons inoculated in Gaya town up to the 31st March, we discovered 31 that were subsequently attacked with the disease. Of these 27 recovered and 4 died. Of those that died, 3 died within ten days after inoculation, that is to say, that they may have had the disease before inoculation, in which case inoculation had not a fair trial: only 1* died after the period of ten days. So we find, as far as our information goes, that of 3,716 persons inoculated, only 31 were attacked with the disease, and only 1 died after the ten-days' period. Now the population of Gaya town at the census of 1891 was about 80,000. Of these a large number had left the town at the outbreak of the epidemic; say 60,000 remained in the town. This is possibly a large estimate, but let it be said then that 56,000 were not inoculated. The total number attacked from plague and suspected fever up to the 31st March was 4,720, and the total number of deaths was 4,643. Allowing for the persons inoculated, we may assume that of 56,000 persons not inoculated, 4,689 were attacked by plague and suspected fever, and 4,649 of these died. Taking the returns of only such attacks and deaths as the people themselves admitted to be plague, we have 56,000 persons not inoculated, 1,558 attacks from plague, and 1,517 deaths.

9. Taking only such as the people admitted to be plague, we find that among uninoculated persons about 2·8 per cent. were attacked and 2·7 per cent. died. Taking all cases of suspected fever as well as admitted plague, we get 8·3 per cent. attacked and 8·2 per cent. died, whereas among those inoculated only 1·2 per cent. were attacked, and only 0·2 per cent. died.

10. Taking, therefore, only cases admitted to be plague, we find the proportion of deaths among the uninoculated to be 14 times greater than among the inoculated; and taking all deaths from suspected fever as well, the greater part of which were no doubt deaths from plague, we get the proportion of deaths among the uninoculated to be 41 times greater than among the inoculated. These figures are for the town of Gaya. They should be regarded as only approximately accurate; but they are as accurate as possible in the circumstances.

11. Mr. Musavi, the officer then in charge of the Jehanabad Circle of the Tikari Ward's Estate, kindly prepared for me figures showing the result of inoculation carried out under his supervision in the Jehanabad Circle, obtained by personal enquiry and by checking the reports of his own subordinates. I give his figures—

Number of persons in houses in which inoculation was done	...	985
Ditto in those houses that were inoculated	...	302
Ditto ditto that were not inoculated	...	683
Number of deaths among inoculated	...	6
Ditto ditto uninoculated	...	57

These figures show that of persons uninoculated 8·3 per cent. died, while among those that were inoculated only 1·9 per cent. died, and of these many may have been attacked before inoculation. These figures are collected from the statistics of many villages, the details of which are in the Magistrate's office.

12. Mr. Wright, the Manager of the Deo Estate, writes that 937 persons were inoculated in Deo. Of these, 11 persons only were attacked with plague and only 6 died within 10 days of inoculation. These figures show that only 1·1 per cent. of inoculated persons were attacked, and 0·6 per cent. died, and that all the deaths occurred within the ten-days' period. These figures may be regarded as reliable, as the inoculations were performed under Mr. Wright's own supervision, and he made personal enquiry as to the result.

13. On the 31st day of May last, the late Mr. Burton, then in charge of the Aurangabad Circle of Tikari Ward's Estate, wrote to me as follows of the results of inoculation carried out under his supervision:—

"In all 5,780 persons were inoculated while the Doctor Babus were with me. Up to date I have not had a report of a single death after inoculation from 'plague.'"

14. Mr. Ogilvy, Manager of the Tikari Estate, gave me the following statistics on the 11th May last:—

"Singhi.—Every inhabitant, male and female, inoculated. One or two deaths after inoculation within the first week. None, as far as I know, later."

"Gandrap.—Every inhabitant inoculated. Deaths ceased afterwards. Had been three or four deaths."

"Dhanhsir.—Every soul inoculated. No case. Village infected (rats dying)."

"Bham.—Every soul inoculated. No cases (rats died)."

"Birnaua.—Every soul inoculated. No cases (rats died)."

"Anti.—A large proportion of inhabitants inoculated. No cases after inoculation: 25 to 30 deaths amongst uninoculated."

"Achhki.—General deaths prior to inoculation. Every soul inoculated. No subsequent cases as far as heard."

"Simri.—Almost whole village inoculated. No cases."

"Banchar.—Whole village inoculated. No cases."

Mr. Coates, District Superintendent of Police, gave me the following account of his enquiries:—

"Khaira.—Outpost Rafiganj; some inoculated; most not. Inoculated, no deaths: uninoculated, a number of deaths. Results— all uninoculated subsequently got done."

"Bhadwa.—Outpost Rafiganj; some inoculated; most not done. Amongst those inoculated 7 got plague and recovered; amongst uninoculated no recoveries."

"Pogar.—Outpost Rafiganj, 4 miles west. Numerous cases of plague. Daily deaths. Messrs. Ogilvy and Burton then went there and got every man, woman and child done. Not another case of plague after it was done."

"Barua.—Near Pogar. Every man, woman and child inoculated. Subsequently village became plague-infected. Rats died, but not one case of plague amongst the inhabitants."

"Khiriwan.—Near Madanpur outpost. Deo Raj arranged to inoculate 200 or 250, but when Civil Hospital Assistant went there, all refused: reason, the Mullah (a Jolaha) had forbidden it. Result—200 or 300 deaths from plague, mostly Jolahas, and amongst the number our friend the Mullah."

15. Making every allowance for the unavoidable difficulty of obtaining accurate statistics in respect of inoculated persons after they have gone to their houses, it must be admitted that the figures afford conclusive evidence of the marked efficacy of inoculation. Looking at inoculation from the point of view of a preventive, the results are still more striking; while in the case of uninoculated we find that nearly all who were attacked died, in the case of those who had been inoculated we find that out of the 42 attacks of which we have authentic information, only 1 died after the ten-days' period. It must also be recollected that the people were at first doubtful of the value of inoculation and were inclined to ascribe bad effects to it, and hence perhaps the tendency was to exaggerate the number of deaths after inoculation rather than to minimise it. But the most striking evidence of the value of the measure as a preventive was its great popularity latterly, after its effects had been experienced by the people, which was shown by the readiness with which they came forward to be inoculated in February, March, April and May in the western parts of the district, where trained medical officers had been deputed for the purpose. In all some 23,000 persons were inoculated of their own free will in the Gaya district.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

The following are the conditions of sale:—

1. The opium will be sold for exportation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

2. The opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 800 per chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by clause 13 of these conditions of sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

3. The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M., of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M., but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or if the whole quantity advertised shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Board of Revenue may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4. Each lot shall contain five chests.

5. A Promissory Note for a sum, calculated according to the scale, noted in the margin,

DEPOSIT.

When the amount bid is less than Rs. 1,200 per chest, Rs. 260 per chest.

On bids of Rs. 1,200 and upwards, but less than Rs. 1,600 per chest, Rs. 300 per chest.

On bids of Rs. 1,600 and upwards, but less than Rs. 2,000 per chest, Rs. 400 per chest.

And so on, Rs. 100 being added to the deposit for every bid additional to the extent of Rs. 400.

shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room and before the lot is registered in the sale-book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal receipts or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 3-30 P.M., in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the said notes must be redeemed by 1-30 P.M., or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal receipts or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6. The said Promissory Notes shall be absolutely payable in any event, and the amount thereof shall be absolutely forfeited upon such default as before mentioned, and the amount thereof shall not go or be credited in reduction of any loss on re-sale or expenses thereby incurred, but shall be recoverable whether such re-sale shall be had or not, or whether there shall be a loss on such re-sale or not.

7. The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the fifth condition, if remaining unredeemed at 3-30 P.M. of the fifth day following the day of sale, or 1-30 P.M., if the last day falls on a Saturday, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

8. No tender of money, Bank of Bengal receipts, or public securities, on account of opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before the prescribed time in clause 5 on the fifth day following the day of sale, will be afterwards accepted. Provided always that money so subsequently tendered may be taken in payment of the said Promissory Note, but such acceptance of money shall in no way entitle the payer thereof to any right to delivery of the lot or lots in respect whereof the said note was given, or to any of the rights of a purchaser thereof, or release the payer from liability for any unpaid balance of such notes or from the additional liability for the loss and expenses of such re-sale as provided for in clauses No. 5 and No. 6.

9. The opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 3-30 P.M. of the fifteenth day from the day of sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the opium must be paid for by 1-30 P.M.; and in case any lots of such opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good all expenses and any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale, and the liability for the loss or difference of price and expenses shall be in addition to, and wholly independent of, the amount of the deposit so forfeited.

10. Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests ordinarily required to be included in each certificate or order.

11. No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present conditions will be received in this office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale-book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

12. The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand tender at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal receipts, or Government securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these conditions.

13. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually by Rs. 5 at a time until a bid is obtained; and the first bona fide bidder for a lot, after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described, shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these conditions.

14. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complete the said twenty-five.

15. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

16. The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue:—No. 1, Certificate of the opium advertised for sale; No. 2, Report of the examination of such opium.

17. The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured at the Patna Factory and the opium manufactured at the Ghazipur Factory for the year 1901-1902, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug, when packed at the Patna and Ghazipur Factories, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

18. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board of Revenue entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.

The Administration Report of the Calcutta Municipality for the year 1901-1902.

The Reports for the years 1899-1900 and 1900-1901 and the Resolutions recorded by Government thereon.

THE Calcutta Municipal Administration Report for 1901-1902, which is the second year during which the amended Municipal Act has been in force, shows that the revised constitution continues to work smoothly and to produce good results. The Commissioners have discharged their duties zealously. The Corporation met 23 times during the year, and on an average over two-thirds of the Commissioners attended each meeting. The General Committee held 56 meetings, and the average attendance was 10 out of 12. There were 10 Special Committees and 19 Sub-Committees appointed during the year, and it is evident from the report that much good work was done by them. The report is not altogether in the form which was accepted by the Corporation in their Secretary's letter No. 2884M., dated the 14th March 1902, and upon this point separate orders will be passed. Nor has the report been reviewed by the General Committee, as required by section 17 of Act III of 1899. In the Resolution of Government, dated the 21st September 1900, reviewing the report for 1899-1900, it was pointed out that (as in the present year) the Chairman had forwarded copies of the proceedings of the General Committee and of the Corporation at meetings held to consider the report, but that this action was not in exact compliance with the law. What is required is an expression of the views of the General Committee and the Corporation respectively as a whole, and not the opinions of individual members. If any Commissioner has criticisms to make on the report, it would be more convenient that they should be made by way of definite motions on which the general opinion of the Committee or Corporation could be taken: these instructions should be complied with in future years. The map submitted with the report would be more useful if it showed the division of the town into wards.

2. The main features of the year were the reorganization of Administrative Departments, and the completion of arrangements for undertaking works of improvement. Defects of previous years and old obstructions to good administration are being cleared away. Outstanding claims have been settled by arbitration, with the result that demands amounting to Rs. 10,69,602 have been reduced to Rs. 4,27,945 and have been paid off. Simultaneously, by a reorganization of the Collection Department, the large balance of outstanding taxes, amounting to Rs. 9,23,095 on 31st March 1901, has been reduced by collections and cancellations to Rs. 4,19,197. Of the total outstandings, only Rs. 3,29,157 could be collected, but the Acting Lieutenant-Governor recognises the value of the work done in clearing up the confusion in this department. Since the close of the year further cancellations have been ordered, and it is expected that only about 1 $\frac{3}{4}$ lakhs will remain, which must be realised by civil suits. From the report of the preceding year (paragraph 15), it appears that there was a difference of about Rs. 30,000 between the amounts shown as balance by the Warrant and Accounts Departments, and numerous bills were missing in the Warrant Department. The final report does not say how the accounts have been reconciled, and it is presumed that the difference has been struck off.

3. Among the schemes of reorganization may be noticed the division of the town into four districts, which was experimentally begun in 1900. Each district is now completely manned with a Health Department and an Engineering Department, so arranged as to be easily controlled by the Central Office. The control of the Conservancy Department has been transferred from the Health Officer to the Engineer, and the working of this arrangement should be noticed in future reports. The co-operation of Ward Commissioners has been invited, and has been made possible by the division of the town into districts for administrative purposes, and the development of this system by which the services of Municipal Commissioners interested in the conservancy and improvement of their districts can be fully utilized promises excellent results. The Collection Department was reorganized during the year by the amalgamation of the Collection and Warrant Departments. The previous Collector had no coercive powers, and the issue of warrants by a separate department involved delays which resulted in a large accumulation of arrears, as already mentioned. Warrants are now issued generally within three months of the tax becoming due. The consequence was that during the past year over 98 per cent. of the real current demand was collected. The results cannot be compared with those of previous years, as the collections were made from the current demand only, whereas for previous years the percentage of collections was calculated on the current and arrear demand, but the figures as they stand are eminently satisfactory. It does not appear that any undue coercion had to be exercised during the year. Out of the total collections of Rs. 42,05,935, only Rs. 1,07,393, or 2.5 per cent., were collected by coercive measures. Distrainted property was removed in 117 cases and sold in 32 cases. It was not to be expected that a system which seeks to enforce punctual payment could be introduced without some discontent, but it is satisfactory to read in the report that "the pressure of the Warrant Department is now a thing of the past, and that rate-payers have become habituated to the prompt and punctual payment of municipal demands." The working of the License Department was less satisfactory, for the revenue has not increased in proportion to the growth of the city, and the system is obviously deficient in certain particulars, while the percentage of collections was only 79·88. It appears that the attention of the Commissioners has been directed to the defects of this department.

4. Other improvements during the year which remain to be noticed were the reorganization of the workshop and the abolition of the Store Department, which has been a source of much wasteful expenditure in the past. The Secretary's office was placed on a better footing, and there is now less delay in dealing with correspondence and complaints. The revision of the system of accounts is in progress, and it is hoped that this difficult matter will soon be satisfactorily concluded. The Municipal Market, which has become an increasing source of income, has been improved and is about to be extended. A better system of lighting the streets has become possible under the new contract, and Welsbach lamps are to be generally introduced: during the year 5,000 new burners were supplied. The Building Department was reorganized and placed under the Deputy Chairman with four qualified surveyors, who have taken the place of the large establishment previously employed under the Road and Engineering Department. The Health Department is now altogether dissociated from the Building Department, and it is a question whether this is altogether desirable. It appears that the Health Department is restricted to independent action in connection with existing nuisances only, but special cases must sometimes arise where the opinion of the Health Officer would be valuable in regard to applications for new buildings. If it be the case, as stated in the report, that the insanitary condition of certain areas in Calcutta is due more to structural defects than to any other cause, the importance of intimate relations between the Building and Health Departments is obvious, and the Acting Lieutenant-Governor feels no doubt that the matter will receive attention. It is satisfactory that the methods for dealing with building applications have been clearly laid down, and are being enforced by qualified surveyors. It is observed that there are still difficulties of procedure to be overcome, and that it has not been possible to give full effect to the provisions of the Act on the subject. It is especially difficult to deal with mistakes of the past, but something has been done to define the legal position, and it is hoped that arrangements will be made to prevent the delays in procedure which have hitherto operated against the usefulness of the Department. The Building Department dealt with 7,118 applications during the year, but it is not said how they were disposed of. Apparently a large number were summarily rejected on the ground that they were not accompanied by plans: of the applications properly submitted, about 65 per cent. were sanctioned. The work of the Department has been considerably helped by the appointment of the new Municipal Magistrate, who has after local enquiries caused many works to be carried out in accordance with the regulations. On the other hand, it is unsatisfactory that out of 725 cases in which demolition was ordered by him, the orders were obeyed in only 80 cases, and a further report on the subject will be called for. Bye-laws were framed on certain subjects during the year, but there has been considerable delay in submitting, for the final approval of Government, a set of bye-laws dealing with obstructions and encroachments on streets and the regulation of markets and slaughter-houses.

5. The report is comparatively silent on the subject of conservancy, and there are indications that more might be done towards the cleansing of the streets, especially in the poorer parts of the town. The difficulty appears to lie in the provision of carts and bullocks or ponies, though there was a considerable increase of expenditure on this account. The report, however, does not contain the usual tabular information on this subject, and the omission will be dealt with in a separate letter. It is hoped that the Corporation will be successful with the improved system of incineration which is about to be introduced, and that an extension of the gowkhanas will enable the municipal cattle to be used to greater advantage.

6. The outturn of work done by the Engineering Department would have been greater but for the delay in carrying out the Suburban Drainage Scheme. This subject has already been dealt with by Government. The scheme had been well advanced on lines generally approved by Mr. Baldwin Latham, but, on a further reference to him upon certain disputed points, he recommended a new design for the outfall, by which the sewage should flow direct from the drains into a tidal channel. Government has agreed with the Commissioners that this proposal is unsuitable, and it is hoped that the scheme, as now approved, will be completed as rapidly as possible. Four lakhs of rupees were expended during the year on the town and suburban sewage outfall and the works connected therewith. The most important work in hand is the completion of the main sewer from Kidderpore to Ballygunge, and of the outfall. It appears that this sewer has been constructed on a scale which is not approved by Mr. Latham, and care will be necessary to prevent the deposit of silt. The other sewers will be constructed in accordance with his recommendations. Some progress was made in the extension of the filtered and unfiltered water-supply, and a scheme was worked out for the prevention of waste and for a continuous supply. The works in hand are estimated to cost about 50 lakhs of rupees, and it is hoped that the Corporation will make sure that the Engineering Department is manned with a fully qualified staff.

7. The health of the town was not as good as usual during the year. The number of deaths from plague was less than in 1900-1901, but there was an epidemic of small-pox, while diarrhoea and dysentery were slightly above the normal. The work of disinfecting plague infected rooms was carried on without opposition and with good results. The demolition of huts, which had been proved to be centres of the disease, was also successfully undertaken, compensation being paid to the owners. The registration of births is still unsatisfactory, being only 10·7 per thousand, while as to the birth-rate a comparison of the Calcutta figures with those of other towns and the statistics of infant vaccination lead to the conclusion that the true birth rate must be at least double the reported figure. The usual method adopted for improving the system of registration is to prosecute those who are found not to have reported births, but no information is given on this subject. The low registered birth-rate must account to a great extent for what is apparently a very high death-rate among infants, amounting to 350 per thousand, but if the death-rate is true, it is satisfactory to notice that it has fallen considerably, inasmuch as during the ten previous years the average exceeded 400 per thousand. The policy of bustee improvement was pushed on with vigour, and work is either going on or in contemplation in more than 100 bustees. The progress of the work is, however, almost unavoidably slow, and the Corporation have not solved the difficult question of housing those who are compelled to quit the condemned bustees. It is hoped that they will seriously take in hand the necessary improvement of the suburban area, where, as suggested by one of the members of the General Committee, it may be possible to lay out the unoccupied spaces so as to house the poorer classes and to provide good roads and easy communications. The general introduction of electric traction on the tramways should make the solution of this problem easier, since it will make the Suburbs more easily accessible. Something was done in this direction by the erection of a model dwelling-house in Bhowanipore, but such houses are more suited to supply the wants of the artisan classes. The Corporation are to be congratulated on the improvements which they have introduced, and which they propose to introduce, in the Vaccination Department. The work of the year showed a great improvement in regard to infant vaccination over that previously recorded. In connection with the health of the town, it is satisfactory to note that six new squares are being opened out, and that steps have been taken to remove the cemeteries from within the town limits.

8. Although good progress has been made during the year in strengthening the organization for the improvement of Calcutta, the actual expenditure on the main schemes was, as already noted, comparatively small, and the demands in the near future will be very great. It is therefore satisfactory to find that the finances of the Corporation are in a sound condition. The valuation of the town has increased by about 50 lakhs of rupees in the last ten years, and, since the introduction of the new Municipal Act, the increase has been over 14 lakhs. During the last year four wards were re-assessed, and the total increase of valuation of the year was over 9½ lakhs. The income from the general rates increased by Rs. 2,15,000 owing to new assessments and better collections. It is observed from the discussion on the report in the meeting of the Corporation that there is some dissatisfaction with the valuation of residential houses in the north of Calcutta. This question was settled in 1888, when the Act of that year provided that such houses should be valued, not on the rent which they might be expected to pay, but on the cost of construction. The former system had been previously in force, but owing to the prejudice which exists among Hindus against living in hired houses, it was found that under it residential houses were valued at from 30 to 50 per cent. below their real value. In order to remedy what was then stigmatised as a scandal, the system was altered to a valuation on the cost of construction. Protests were made at the time from influential quarters, but after full inquiry, the principle was maintained by Government, and it was again reaffirmed when the law was amended in 1899. When the first revaluations were made under the amended Act of 1888, it was impossible to give full effect to the change of system, and the revisions of assessment were not strictly made. It is therefore not a matter of surprise that the revision now being made should add considerably to the valuation. This method of assessment, however, possesses the elements of certainty. The houses are measured, and the cost of construction can be accurately ascertained. If mistakes are made, they can be easily corrected, if necessary, by a judicial decision as to the measurements or the rates of construction. The results are checked by the prices which are ascertained to have been realised in sales, or to have been calculated for purposes of partition. It is reported that a considerable portion of the increase in the valuation is due to the rise in the value of land which is included for the purposes of assessment. Government has no reason to doubt the fairness of a system by which a residential house is valued on the capital which would be expended in constructing it, in addition to the value of the land. It appears that the assessment work of the year gave rise to 3,687 objections, but no information is given as to the percentage of this number on the total assessments made or as to the ultimate fate of these objections. However, in Table No. XXXV, Appendix A, it is shown that the total increase of valuation was Rs. 12,64,412, of which Rs. 4,90,060 was obtained after disposal of objections, so that the percentage of objections may be estimated at about 38. In future years some further information should be given showing how these objections are disposed of, and the extent to which reductions of assessment are allowed owing to exceptional circumstances under proviso (iii) to section 151 of the Municipal Act.

9. The outstanding loans at the close of the year amounted to Rs. 3,21,92,158, but with their present valuation the Corporation are in a position to borrow a further crore of rupees, and with the growth of the revenue of the town their capacity to borrow will increase yearly. During the past year, 21 lakhs were raised at favourable rates, and the year closed with a considerable cash balance. Government was unable to accept a proposal made during the year to borrow 30 lakhs at 4 per cent. to pay off the balance of the present debt to the Imperial Government, which is being paid off by half-yearly instalments of principal and interest. The whole debt will be cleared off in 1909, and as the Corporation is now well able to meet its liabilities, it appeared better to allow this debt to be paid off in the next few years rather than to incur a liability for a further period, when fresh and heavier demands are likely to be made on the resources of the Municipality. The income was Rs. 1,14,000 better, while the expenditure was Rs. 6,18,000 less, than the estimate. The shortage of expenditure is considerable. It is not easy to ascertain from the report why all the funds provided for works during the year were not expended, but the result was apparently due to the stoppage of work on the Suburban Drainage Scheme pending the reference to Mr. Latham. The main expenditure on this account, viz. Rs. 6,73,834, was for works executed before the year under report. In reviewing the report for 1900-01, the Lieutenant-Governor expressed the hope that the scheme for disposing of the suburban sewage and surface drainage, and for providing a continuous water-supply, would be pressed on to completion as rapidly as possible. The execution of such important works no doubt requires the fullest consideration but it is to be regretted that more has not been done during the year under report. Similarly the difficulties with which the Corporation have to contend are very great, but it is by their success in overcoming these difficulties, and in bringing to a completion the various projects for the improvement of the town and suburbs, that the efficiency of the Corporation and the value of the new constitution will be judged.

10. Mr. Greer was Chairman throughout the year except for 2½ months, when Mr. Silk officiated for him, and Mr. Blackwood continued to fill the office of Deputy Chairman; these officers discharged their onerous duties with zeal and ability. The thanks of the Acting Lieutenant-Governor are due to them and to the other officers of the Corporation, while the valuable services rendered throughout the year by the General Committee and the Commissioners in their respective spheres merit his cordial acknowledgments.

By order of the Acting Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

E. W. COLLIN,

Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION REVIEWING THE DIVISIONAL REPORTS ON THE WORKING OF THE DISTRICT BOARDS IN BENGAL DURING THE YEAR 1901-1902.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—LOCAL SELF-GOVT.

Calcutta, the 8th December 1902.

RESOLUTION No. 3225 L.S.-G.

READ—

The Reports from the Commissioners of Divisions on the working of the District Boards in Bengal during 1901-1902.

Read again—

The Resolution reviewing the Divisional reports on the working of the District Boards in Bengal during 1900-1901.

The number of District Boards and Union Committees remained unchanged during the year, but the number of Local Boards increased from 105 to 106 owing to the formation of a Local Board in the Alipur subdivision of the district of Jalpaiguri.

2. Constitution of District Boards.—On the 31st March last the 42 District Boards contained in all 845 members, against 844 in 1901-1902. The fluctuations in their composition are slight, and do not call for any remarks. The Boards held altogether 640 meetings, or 30 more than in the previous year. The District Board of Saran, as in the previous year, heads the list with 31 meetings: Puri stands second with 26, followed by the District Boards of Faridpur, Purnea, and Jalpaiguri with 25, 21 and 20 meetings, respectively. On the other hand, the District Boards of Midnapore, Pabna, Hazaribagh, and Palamau held 10, 9, 5, and 10 meetings only, respectively, during the year. In the cases of Pabna and Palamau no explanation has been given of the neglect of the rule that a meeting should be held at least once a month. In Midnapore it is said to be due to the neglect of the Secretary, who has since been removed. In Hazaribagh it is explained that there was no necessity for more meetings, as the Chairman was unwilling to call the members together merely for the transaction of routine business. The Commissioner of Bhagalpur reports that there has been a general falling off in the attendance of official members, and that he has taken notice of their default. The number of meetings that had to be adjourned and of those that proved abortive for want of a quorum was 47 against 51 in 1900-1901; 8 of these failures occurred in Puri, 7 in Jalpaiguri, and 5 each in Faridpur and Cuttack.

3. Constitution of Local Boards.—The 106 Local Boards had a total strength of 1,268 members, or 6 more than in the previous year. Only trifling variations are noticeable in the composition of these Boards. The number of meetings held was 1,205, or 24 more than in 1900-1901, of which 203, as compared with 198 in the previous year, had to be adjourned or proved abortive owing to failure to form a quorum. Forty-eight Local Boards, as against 54 in the previous year, failed to meet once a month, and of these, 5, viz., Raniganj, Murshidabad, Naugaon, Alipur (Jalpaiguri), and Darbhanga held only 5 meetings, or less, during the year. The last named Board was abolished in the course of the year. The Gaya Local Board heads the list with 21 meetings Kishorganj following close with 20. There was a slight decline in the attendance of non-official members.

4. Elections.—General elections of members were held in the districts of Burdwan, Birbhum, Bankura, Hooghly, 24-Parganas, Nadia, Rajshahi, Pabna, and Dacca. In some districts, and notably in Burdwan, the elections evoked but little interest ; in some places the elections failed owing to the non-attendance of the requisite number of voters, and in others to the fact that nominations were not received in time.

5. Powers of Local Boards.—The only changes in respect of the powers delegated to Local Boards were the withdrawal of the management of ferries from the Boalia Local Board and of the charge of dispensaries from the Local Boards in Bhagalpur. In Purnea the maintenance of some of the district and village roads was made over to the Sadar Local Board, while the Subdivisional Boards were entrusted with the management of pounds in addition to the maintenance of roads. Some of the Local Boards in the Rajshahi Division worked unsatisfactorily, and it is doubtful whether they should be retained. The Commissioner is requested to consider the subject.

6. Union Committees.—There was no change in the number of Union Committees or of their members, but the number of meetings held by them increased from 255 to 263. The total income declined from Rs. 19,891 to Rs. 19,205, and the expenditure from Rs. 18,247 to Rs. 18,203. Twenty-five out of the fifty-six Unions expended the whole, or nearly the whole, amount placed at their disposal, while no expenditure was incurred by the Memari, Baddipur, and Jara Union Committees, and only a nominal sum by those at Garapata and Harinakundu. Four out of the five Union Committees in the district of Balasore had no income or assignment made to them under section 56 of the Act, and consequently remained inactive during the year. Of these, the Jellasore Committee has had a balance of Rs. 30 since the close of the year 1898-99, which appears annually in its accounts: if it cannot spend this amount, the District Board should resume it. The Union Committees of Paudua, Haripal, and Bali in the district of Hooghly, and all the Union Committees in the districts of Khulna and Noakhali are reported to have done good work during the year. Elsewhere, however, they had either no opportunity or no desire to make themselves useful. The object of Union Committees is to stimulate local interest in the improvement of areas where population is fairly dense, and one intention of the Act was to enable the residents of such areas to supplement the funds received from the District Boards by local taxation for the improvement of drainage and the supply of drinking-water. These objects have not been realized, and Government does not propose to extend the system of Union Committees except to localities where the residents show signs of a desire to help themselves.

7. Financial results.—The year opened with a gross credit balance of Rs. 21,69,657, and the total receipts of the forty-two District Boards from all sources amounted during the year to Rs. 80,65,037. The total amount available for expenditure was therefore Rs. 1,02,34,694, of which Rs. 83,11,738 were spent. The year closed with a credit balance of Rs. 19,22,956.

The table below compares the income and expenditure of District Boards under all main heads for 1900-1901 and 1901-1902:—

INCOME.

8. Provincial rates (Rs. 42,19,181).—The amount shown under this head represents the proceeds of the road cess, less the cost of collection and revaluation. Compared with the figures for the previous year, the income derived from this source shows a slight decrease, which occurred in all the Divisions with the exception of the Presidency, Dacca, and Chittagong Divisions, and which was mainly due to the increase of establishment and other collection charges. The decrease was largest in Saran, where it is explained to be due to a reduction in the amount of arrears recoverable and to greater difficulty experienced in collecting them.

9. Interest (Rs. 40,940).—The cess collections, as stated above, were smaller, and this reacted on the realisation of interest.

10. Police (Rs. 4,81,306).—The number of pounds under the management of District Boards increased from 4,252 to 4,330, and the income from them from Rs. 4,73,430 to Rs. 4,81,306. There was a considerable decrease in Bhagalpur, which is ascribed partly to the failure to settle several pounds, and partly to the receipts for the previous year having been swelled by the realisation of arrear rents. It is believed that some private pounds have been started by zamindars and enquiries are being made. The income from pounds in the Dacca Division is very small, and the subject is under enquiry. The collections on the whole improved, and the balances were less than $8\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. of the demands. They were worst in Orissa, where the arrears were nearly 25 per cent. of the demand—a result attributed to the mismanagement of the Local Boards. The necessity for a continual inspection of pounds remains, and in several cases pound-keepers were punished for failure to supply food and water to the animals under their charge.

11. Education (Rs. 81,152).—The receipts under this head increased by Rs. 14,778. The increase is marked in the district of Rajshahi, where it is said to be due to larger collections of donations promised towards the Diamond Jubilee Industrial School at Boalia.

12. Medical (Rs. 49,674).—The increase of income under this head by Rs. 15,089 is chiefly attributed to larger realisation of subscriptions and contributions—a result especially welcome as evincing an increased interest on the part of the public in medical charity, which is now more directly under their own management.

13. Scientific and other Minor Departments (Rs. 8,825).—The receipts under this head declined by Rs. 1,977, chiefly owing to transfer to other heads of account.

14. Miscellaneous (Rs. 2,09,776).—Miscellaneous receipts increased by Rs. 24,410. The increase occurred chiefly in the district of Howrah, and was due to the transfer of the receipts from the Howrah-Amta Railway, amounting to Rs. 28,128, to this head.

15. Irrigation Minor Works and Navigation (Rs. 16,607).—Canal revenue in Chittagong increased by Rs. 1,458, the increase being due to higher bids for leases.

16. Civil Works (Rs. 12,23,333).—The receipts under this head, which are derived mainly from "Tolls on ferries" and "Contributions," declined by

Rs. 65,108. The falling off is noticeable under both heads. The income from ferries will necessarily decrease as railways are extended, and this cause accounts for the reduction in many districts. In other cases, as in Cuttack, the decrease was due to the payment of deposits in the previous year. Inspections of ferries were conducted as usual and disclosed some causes for complaint, which, it is hoped, will be avoided in future. The receipts from contributions, principally from Government, vary from year to year according to the provincial works entrusted to District Boards for execution. In the year under review they fell short of the amount received during the previous year by Rs. 45,295.

17. Contributions (Rs. 5,65,188).—The annual contributions made by Government to equalise the assets and charges of the several District Boards were less than the amount contributed in 1900-1901 by Rs. 59,299.

18. Deposits and Advances (Rs. 11,68,132).—The sums deposited as security for the payment of revenue by ferry farmers, contractors and others, and the recoveries and adjustments on account of advances made from District Funds increased by Rs. 7,81,122. The increase, though large, was due to casual variations.

EXPENDITURE.

19. Administration (Rs. 2,94,244).—The expenditure under this head increased by Rs. 13,985. The increase is chiefly attributed to grants of annual increments to employes and heavier expenditure on account of travelling allowances and office contingencies.

20. Police (Rs. 24,969).—There was an increase of Rs. 3,140 in the expenditure on cattle-pounds. The increase was largest in Gaya due to the renewal and repairs of pound-sheds. In other districts costs were incurred in recovering arrears, which should not have accrued if the rules had been observed.

21. Marine (Rs. 9,896).—The small decrease of Rs. 476 occurred in Pabna, Malda, and Noakhali—three out of the four districts which show expenditure under this head. The expenditure is for the subvention of private steamer services.

22. Education (Rs. 13,31,926).—There was a net increase of Rs. 40,679 in the expenditure of District Boards under this head, which was shared by all classes of schools. There was a decrease in direct expenditure on primary schools which was more than compensated by the increase in grants-in-aid. It is intended to largely add to the grants from public revenues for the extension of primary education.

The number of Sub-Inspectors employed by District Boards during the year remained the same, but the number of Inspecting Pandits decreased from 438 to 422. Of schools maintained by District Boards, the number of high schools remained unchanged, but there was a decrease of 6 in the number of middle schools. The number of upper primary and lower primary schools and industrial schools also remained unaltered. Of schools aided by District Boards, the number of high schools, middle schools, and industrial schools decreased by 7, 10, and 2, respectively, but the number of upper and lower primary and other schools increased by 125, 447, and 19, respectively. The total number of girls undergoing tuition in the schools aided by District Boards were 4,193 in upper primary and 48,838 in lower primary schools.

The Director of Public Instruction, in noting on the educational work of District Boards in the Annual Report on Education, has observed that the Boards generally worked in harmony with the Department, and accepted the suggestions of the Deputy Inspectors. Where the Local Boards have been given charge of primary education, difficulties have arisen, and in the opinion of the Lieutenant-Governor it would be well for District Boards to keep the control of this Department in their own hands.

Vacancies in the post of Sub-Inspector occurred in the districts of Khulna, Dinajpur, Rangpur, Pabna, Faridpur, Backergunge, Gaya, Mozaffarpur, Darbhanga, Monghyr, Balasore, and Hazaribagh, to all of which, with the exception of those in Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, and Hazaribagh, qualified Muhammadans were appointed. In the case of Dinajpur and Backergunge out of two and three vacancies, respectively, one in the former and two in the latter were conferred upon Muhammadans.

Special Schools.—The changes to note under this head are that the Kashi Kishor Technical School at Mymensingh was reopened during the year in a remodelled form, and the Barisal Technical School was amalgamated with the local zilla school. The District Board of Mymensingh granted a scholarship to a boy attending the Sericultural School at Rampur Boalia, and the District Boards of Patna and Malda gave stipends for the training of students in the Sibpur Engineering College. The Bhagalpur District Board granted eight scholarships of Rs. 8 a month tenable for three years and a half to boys studying in the Bihar School of Engineering. The Patna, Shahabad, Muzaffarpur and Darbhanga District Boards sent up students with scholarships to the Veterinary College at Belgachia. The Cuttack District Board provided three scholarships for technical education in the Jobra Workshop. Another industrial school was opened in Balasore during the year, making a total of three, out of which one only is aided by the Board. Carpentry, needle-work, and the use of the fly-shuttle loom are taught in these schools. The District Board of Noakhali sanctioned a monthly subsidy of Rs. 25 to the local Madrassa. The District Board of Chittagong aided two Sanskrit lols with stipends of Rs. 15 and Rs. 10 each a month. The Industrial School at Hurlong in Hazaribagh was abolished during the year.

In circular No. 17T.—G., dated the 31st October 1901, the Chairmen of certain District Boards were requested to report the progress made in extending the use of the fly-shuttle loom. It does not appear from the reports received that any real progress has been made in any district except in Noakhali. In Pabna a loom has been set up by some pleaders.

The encouragement of female education continued to receive attention from the Boards, and, as usual, those bodies provided scholarships for the training of female students in medical schools.

23. Medical (Rs. 4,41,939).—The expenditure under this head decreased by Rs. 17,483, the decrease occurring chiefly in the Patna Division. The decrease is satisfactory, because the expenditure incurred by the District Boards of Patna and Gaya in the previous year was largely swollen by the adoption of measures to check the progress of plague and the decrease means that these measures were not necessary to the same extent last year.

District Boards continued to afford gratuitous medical relief to localities affected with cholera and malarial fever. It is stated that eucalyptus oil, which was distributed by the District Board with instructions for its administration, afforded much relief in cholera cases in Faridpur. The Pasteur Institute at Kasauli continued to receive contributions from District Boards.

There was an increase of 17 in the number of dispensaries maintained by District Boards, and of Rs. 13,942 in the cost incurred in their maintenance, the District Board of Backergunge, as in previous years, maintaining the largest number of dispensaries, viz., 34. The number of dispensaries aided by District Boards increased by six and the contributions to those dispensaries by Rs. 28,923. The District Board of Faridpur aided the largest number of dispensaries, 15 in all.

24. Sanitation (Rs. 35,728).—The expenditure under this head increased by Rs. 4,579, the increase being largest in Gaya. The sanitary works undertaken during the year were of the same nature as those noticed in the last Resolution. The system of cleansing villages and rural towns, inaugurated by the Patna Sadar Local Board during the previous year, was continued during the year and 67 villages are reported to have been cleansed. The work done consisted mainly in the removal of filth and rank vegetation and the filling up of ditches and hollows, and it was carried out under the supervision of the members of the Patna District Board. Further details as to the scheme will be obtained, as it appears to promise good results at a small cost.

25. Veterinary charges (Rs. 17,243).—The charges under this head show an increase of Rs. 7,419, the increase being largest in Patna, where the District Board contributed to the Patna Municipality the sum of Rs. 417, being a moiety of the costs incurred in the maintenance of a veterinary dispensary at that place and in the employment of a Veterinary Assistant. The Board also imported two Australian bulls at a cost of Rs. 1,000, and spent Rs. 1,248 on the acquisition of land and construction of stables. Veterinary dispensaries were opened during the year at Suri and Bogra. A Veterinary hospital was also established at Darbhanga under the auspices of the Municipality, to which the District Board contributed one-sixth of the total maintenance charges. Veterinary Assistants were employed during the year by eleven District Boards, and six Boards provided by means of scholarships for the training of students at the Belgachia College. Cattle-disease broke out during the year in an epidemic form in two of the thanas of the Khulna district. A Veterinary Inspector was deputed for the inoculation of cattle with anti-rinderpest serum, and it is reported that the results were, on the whole, satisfactory in one of the thanas. The Veterinary Dispensary at Champaran had to be closed during the year, as the Board was not able to obtain the services of an efficient substitute in the place of the Veterinary Assistant who had resigned his post.

26. Civil Works (Rs. 46,85,791).—The total expenditure shows an increase of Rs. 1,49,050, which occurred under all the sub-heads, except repairs of buildings and communications, establishment, and contingencies. There was a considerable increase in the expenditure on original works. A decreased expenditure in some districts was due to a change of classification introduced during the year under which the expenditure on Provincial roads and civil buildings, which was hitherto shown under this head, is now debited to "Deposits." The chief works taken in hand by the several District Boards were the construction of an office for the District Board of Dacca at an estimated cost of Rs. 66,408, the metalling of a portion of the road leading from Berhampore to Kandi at an estimated cost of Rs. 51,750 (it is noticed with regret that the arrangements for this work were not satisfactory), the construction of the Hazarat-Jandaha-Mahnar road in Muzaffarpur at an estimated cost of Rs. 31,670, the improvement of the Motihari Maisai road and the Motihari-Tetaria road at an estimated cost of Rs. 3,01,739, and the construction of six pontoon bridges in Darbhanga at a cost of Rs. 42,625 and of a screw pile bridge on the Sakri road in the same district at a cost of Rs. 30,102.

27. It is satisfactory to note that the amount spent on water-supply and water-works (columns 78 and 79 of Form III) advanced from Rs. 1,14,268 to Rs. 1,56,130, the increase being largest in Tippera. The works undertaken under this head were, as usual, the re-excavation of tanks and the construction and repair of wells. The District Boards of Shahabad and Bhagalpur contributed Rs. 4,500 and Rs. 5,000, respectively, towards the maintenance of the water-works of the town. In Chittagong water-pipes were laid from the Sambhunath Temple to Sitakund Bazar at a cost of Rs. 5,000, which was contributed by Raja Sreenath Roy Bahadur and his brothers. It appears that in the districts of the Presidency Division the Boards are not able to spend as much as they are willing to allot for the improvement of tanks, as the zamindars refuse to agree to the terms imposed by the Boards for the maintenance of tanks after re-excavation. Government regrets that such obstacles should be placed in the way of the District Boards in the much-needed improvement of village water-supply, and hopes that the Commissioner will find a way to overcome the opposition of the zamindars, or modify the demands of the Boards. The expenditure on water-supply in this Division was only Rs. 11,862, which compares unfavourably with the Rs. 49,411 spent in the Dacca Division. The Acting Lieutenant-Governor is disposed to agree with the Commissioner of Bhagalpur that the duty of the District Boards is to provide for water-supply along the main roads, as has been done in Monghyr, and that the improvement of tanks and wells in villages is more specially the duty of zamindars and local residents. He would welcome such expenditure whenever it can be made on satisfactory conditions for the maintenance of the works, and would suggest that the small funds available would be best spent in contributions in aid of local efforts, where a supply of good water is not otherwise obtainable.

28. Since the close of the year 1900-1901 Commissioners have been appointed to carry out the scheme for the removal of the obstructions to the drainage of the Chalan Bil and for draining the tract known as the Cheriol Bil, lying within the districts of Pabna and Rajshahi. For the first named project an Engineer has been appointed by Government for the preparation of the scheme, and for the latter the District Engineer has prepared one which is under the consideration of the Commissioners.

29. Roads.—During the year 8,666 roads, with a total length of 44,472 miles, were maintained by the several District Boards at a total cost of Rs. 32,02,917, as against Rs. 30,01,378 spent in the preceding year. There was an increase of 2,864 miles of roads, and the Acting Lieutenant-Governor is disposed to regard this increase with some doubt, as in some districts the number of roads under the Boards is already more than they can maintain properly. Of the total length, 3,170 miles were metalled, 24,406 miles unmetalled, and village roads accounted for 16,895 miles against 3,425, 22,570, and 15,611 miles, respectively, in the year 1900-1901. Of the total cost incurred on metalled roads, Rs. 2,15,187 were expended on original works and Rs. 7,79,624 on repairs, and of that incurred on unmetalled roads Rs. 9,14,952 were spent on original works, and Rs. 9,39,241 on repairs. The expenditure on account of metalled roads was highest in Burdwan, Rs. 96,581, Midnapore coming next with Rs. 85,865. There are said to be no metalled roads within the jurisdiction of the District Board of Palamau though it has not been explained what has become of the four roads of this class with a total length of 26 miles which were shown in last year's report. The cost per mile of district metalled roads was highest in Howrah (Rs. 1,295), and lowest in Malda (Rs. 42), and that of unmetalled roads was again highest in Howrah (Rs. 438) and lowest in Nadia (Rs. 14). The Inspector of Works should be directed to watch the expenditure in Howrah and in other districts where it may appear unduly high. The cost per mile of village roads varied from Rs. 115 in Backergunge to Rs. 6 in Champaran.

30. Miscellaneous Public Improvements.—With the exception of Chittagong, all the District Boards incurred expenditure in planting and maintaining trees on the sides of roads. Working plans for arboricultural operations for the period of five years, commencing from 1902-1903, have, in accordance with the orders of Government, been prepared in the majority of the districts, though the reports submitted by the Commissioners of the Dacca and Chittagong Divisions do not furnish any information on the subject.

31. Railway feeder roads.—The construction of new roads as feeders to railways and the maintenance of existing feeder roads continued to receive attention from District Boards. So far as can be gathered from the reports, the total amount spent on this object was Rs. 3,20,119, but the information is not complete. The District Boards of the Patna, Chota Nagpur, and Orissa Divisions were specially active in constructing these classes of roads, while good work was done in Howrah, the 24-Parganas, Monghyr, and Bhagalpur districts. The works in connection with the feeder roads in Rangpur and Bogra, for which Government made contributions of Rs. 5,000 and Rs. 60,000, respectively, were in progress during the year; but the feeder road from Jamalganj railway station to Itakhola in Bogra, and the Goborchapa feeder road in Rajshahi, for which contributions amounting to Rs. 16,000 and Rs. 16,800, respectively, were made from the Provincial Revenues, could not be taken in hand. The due provision of such roads is a subject that is receiving the close attention of Government, and the Acting Lieutenant-Governor is glad to find that local bodies are not backward in a matter that is one of the greatest importance to the development of the country.

32. Railways and Tramways.—The scheme for the construction of a steam tramway on the existing road from Barasat to Basirhat has now been finally accepted and a revised provisional agreement entered into between the District Board and Messrs. Martin and Company, the promoters of the Railway. The proposal for the construction of a steam tramway from Memari to Chakdigi has been abandoned. The extension of the Howrah-Amta Light Railway from Jagatballabpur to Champadanga with a branch from Autpur to Rajbalhat has recently been sanctioned by Government. A project for a tramway between Facca and Sealo, opposite Goalundo, is under consideration. Some progress is reported to have been made in the construction of a light railway between Buktarpur and Bihar, and the negotiations for the construction of tramways in Saran have reached a further stage. In Purnea it is proposed to start a steam tramway between the civil station and the city. The question of the extension of Light Railways with the assistance of private enterprise is under the consideration of Government. The experience at present gained of such schemes has not been entirely satisfactory, and the lines which have been laid, though very useful to the public, have not succeeded, except in one or two cases, in earning at once the large profits which appear to be necessary to attract private capital. The delays in sanctioning such schemes, caused by the necessity of reconciling the conflicting interests of the promoters, local bodies, and neighbouring railways, have also been obstacles to their extension.

33. Contributions (Rs. 2,24,853).—The contributions made by District Boards towards the cost of the Police force employed at plague camps, refund of the unexpended balance of Government grants for special works, payments on account of cost of establishments in the offices of account and control, and contributions made by District Boards to Union Committees increased by Rs. 1,02,805. The fluctuations are due to ordinary causes of no special importance.

34. Deposits and Advances (Rs. 10,58,016).—The large increase under this head amounting to Rs. 6,78,236 is chiefly due to the change in the classification of accounts explained in paragraph 26 of this Resolution.

35. Closing balances (Rs. 19,22,956).—The actual credit balance of the year was less than that of the previous year by Rs. 3,09,046. This is satisfactory, as the closing balances are swollen by the unspent portions of the special grant of five lakhs from Government, and there must, therefore, have been a greater expenditure of the regular income of the Boards than in the preceding year. In several districts, however, it is reported that the full programme of works could not be carried out owing to failure of contractors and other causes. The closing balance was more than one-third of the year's income in Dacca, Faridpur, Dinajpur, Shahabad, Darbhanga, and Palamau. In the four latter districts the large balances have been accounted for, but no explanation on the subject has been furnished in the cases of Dacca and Faridpur and this will be asked for.

36. Amendment of the Bengal Local Self-Government Act.—In the Resolution for the year 1897-98, it was stated that in view of the famine and the measures required to guard against plague, it was not considered advisable at that juncture to proceed with the Bill to amend the Local Self-Government Act. Since then further proposals for the amendment of the Act have been considered. Opportunity has also been taken to remove defects and omissions in the Act, and a Bill is now ready for submission to the Government of India.

37. In the penultimate paragraph of the Resolution for 1900-1901, it was stated that a grant of Rs. 5,00,000 had been made from Provincial Revenues for the improvement of communications in the several Divisions of Bengal. The reports from the Commissioners of Divisions show that the allotments were satisfactorily made, and the money distributed with due consideration for the relative needs of each district. About one-third of the amount was allotted for feeder roads, about the same amount for bridges, about one-fifth for extensions of communications, and the balance for metalling existing roads. It was found possible to renew the grants during the current year, and a second assignment of five lakhs of rupees has been made from Provincial Revenues.

38. The question of providing for a more efficient professional control over the civil works undertaken by District Boards, which was referred to in paragraph 34 of the Resolution on the working of the Boards for the year 1900-1901, was decided by the revision of the rules under clauses (g), (l) and (m) of section 138 of the Bengal Local Self-Government Act, so as to admit of an increase of the control exercised by the Inspector of Works, the enhancement of the Inspector's influence with the Boards, the maintenance of a standard of qualification for the post of District Engineer, and the establishment of a closer audit of accounts.

39. The District Boards continue to administer the large funds entrusted to them with care and efficiency, and the work of the year shows considerable progress in all Departments. The income increased by about seven lakhs and the expenditure by nearly ten lakhs of rupees. The Commissioner of Bhagalpur reports that the roads in his Division have improved, and the Acting Lieutenant-Governor would be glad to see in future reports some further record of the personal observations of the Commissioners as to the results of the work carried out by the Boards. It is satisfactory to find that all Commissioners agree that the members of the District Boards have continued to show interest in their work, and to co-operate loyally with the executive in promoting efficiency. The only dissentient note comes from Orissa, where the Commissioner bewails the growing decrease of public interest in District Boards, as evidenced by the apathy shown in seeking for membership, and by the falling off in the attendance of members. It is possible that this result in Orissa is due to the inelasticity of the revenue, but a revision of the cess valuation is now in progress in this Division, and, with an increase in the revenue and greater opportunities for action, it is hoped that the interest of the District Boards will revive, and that they will prove equal to the work of providing for an advancing population and a general increase of wealth in the districts. The reports as to Local Boards is less favourable except in the Patna Division. It is to be regretted that the problem of devolution of duties to these local bodies has not been satisfactorily solved. That Local Boards can be useful is shown by the example of those in the Patna Division and of the Sadar Local Board of the 21-Parganas, but it is possible that, considering the small funds available they can only be worked satisfactorily where active Chairmen or Vice-Chairmen are available. The Acting Lieutenant-Governor hopes that the local officers will do all that is possible to increase the efficiency of these institutions.

By order of the Acting Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

E. W. COLLIN,

Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

REPORT ON THE EARLY COTTON CROP OF
BENGAL, 1902.

The following report is published for general information.

W. C. MACPHERSON,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The 9th December 1902.

DEPARTMENT OF LAND RECORDS AND AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Report on the Early Cotton Crop of Bengal, 1902.

Explanatory.—This note furnishes the estimates of the area and outturn of the early cotton crop which is sown during the rains and is harvested in winter. In February next will be published a forecast of the late cotton crop of the Province, which is sown at the close of the rainy season and harvested in the hot weather.

2. Character of the season.—The early cotton crop is principally grown in the Chittagong Hill Tracts and in the districts of the Bhagalpur, Orissa, and Chota Nagpur Divisions. In all these districts, except the Chittagong Hill Tracts, the rainfall in June was greatly in defect, while in July the fall was practically normal all over the Province. In the following month the fall was again deficient everywhere, except in Cuttack and Puri, while in September there was heavy rain in all the districts, except the Chittagong Hill Tracts and districts of the Orissa Division. There was little or no rain in October, when the crop was in flower or pod, and November has been literally a rainless month. Thus the season has been anything but favourable to the early cotton crop.

3. Area sown.—It will be seen from the appended statement which summarises the district returns, that the normal area under early cotton in these Provinces is estimated at 79,800 acres. The area actually sown this year is estimated at 67,700 acres against 72,500 acres of the past year. The decrease is probably attributable to the competition of imported cotton twists in the market and to the consequent unremunerative character of the industry.

4. Character of the crop.—From the annexed abstract of the district returns, it will be observed that out of the 15 districts which grow early cotton, only two, namely, Monghyr and Bhagalpur, report a normal crop. Midnapore, the Sonthal Parganas, Cuttack, Balasore, Manbhum, and Singhbhum have returned a crop of between 90 and 100 per cent. Hazaribagh anticipates an outturn of 81 per cent.; Puri and Ranchi 75 per cent. each; Jalpaiguri and Angul 55 per cent. each; Palamau 50 per cent., while in the chief cotton-growing area in the Province, viz., the Chittagong Hill Tracts, the outturn is estimated as low as 40 per cent. of an average crop. The outturn for the Province as a whole amounts, according to the district returns, to only 77 per cent. of a normal crop. This may be accepted as the probable outturn.

5. Gross outturn.—The total yield of the early cotton crop this year is estimated at 5,287,400 lbs., against 4,986,700 lbs. produced last year. The average yield of the preceding eight years amounted to 6,495,000 lbs.

C. G. H. ALLEN,

Offg. Director of Land Records

and Agriculture, Bengal.

Orissa— east.	Belasore	1,384,368	870,800	1,000	500	200	86	85	The gradual decrease in area is due to the competition of imported cotton twists in the market. Short outturn due to want of rain in September. The decrease in area is due to the introduction of the machine-made thread to a large extent in this district, and to the fact that the cultivation of the crop has become less profitable than before. Owing to unfavourable rainfall, the whole areas could not be sown in some of the thanas. The low outturn is due to insufficient rainfall in September and October. The figures in columns 5, 6 and 8 have been revised after further enquiry by the police. The decrease is due to want of timely rainfall. The decrease in area is due to deficiency of rainfall.	Ditto ditto.

RESOLUTION ON THE ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONERS OF THE PORT OF CALCUTTA FOR THE YEAR 1901-1902.

No. 2162 Marine.

Government of Bengal.

MARINE DEPARTMENT.

Dated Calcutta, the 4th December 1902.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

The Administration Report of the Commissioners of the Port of Calcutta for the year 1901-1902.

THE revenue earned in the year 1901-1902 amounted to Rs. 76,74,782, exclusive of outstanding bills. This closely approximates to the budget estimate for the year of Rs. 77,07,719. The expenditure amounted to Rs. 73,95,123, so that the net result was a surplus of Rs. 2,79,659. Adding to this the balances of previous years, the total revenue balance stands at Rs. 12,11,082, exclusive of outstanding bills. The Commissioners have rightly decided that a sufficient balance shall be reserved against any temporary depreciation of revenue from transient causes, and they have accordingly established a revenue reserve fund made up of the accumulated balances of previous years.

2. A sum of Rs. 14,85,497 was expended on various capital works, of which Rs. 6,80,185 were obtained from the balance of loans raised in 1900, and miscellaneous receipts on capital account, and the difference of Rs. 8,05,312 was financed by temporary advances made from the revenue cash balance in order to postpone the issue of a loan and thereby save interest. On the other hand, a sum of Rs. 2,20,955 has been paid to the Government, so that the total capital debt of the Trust was reduced from Rs. 4,74,63,127, at which it stood on the 31st of March 1901, to Rs. 4,72,42,172.

3. Against this debt, the Commissioners hold properties, including works in progress, stock of stores in cash, and securities in hand of the value of Rs. 6,09,57,162. This does not include the Strand bank lands, the capitalized value of which, at present rates of rent, would represent a considerable sum of money. The position of the Commissioners in respect of their debts may, therefore, be considered to be satisfactory. At the same time, Sinking Funds, amounting to Rs. 34,20,593, have been accumulated by annual contributions from revenue for the extinction of debts, and may be added to the value of assets.

4. A Fire Insurance Fund has been instituted to cover all the Commissioners' buildings except the petroleum sheds, and the practice of insuring some of the buildings with public companies has therefore been discontinued. The fund, which amounted on the 31st March last to Rs. 3,81,577, is invested in public securities, and the interest, as it accrues, is added to the fund.

5. The receipts at the "Jetties" amounted to Rs. 14,03,807, against Rs. 12,63,640 in 1900-1901, showing an increase of Rs. 1,40,167, the improvement being due to an increase in the Foreign Import trade. The jetty warehouses are fully occupied, and as more storage accommodation is demanded, steps are being taken to provide additional space. The expenditure amounted to Rs. 4,94,966, as compared with Rs. 5,01,175 of the previous year, showing a decrease of

Rs. 6,209. This decrease is noteworthy, inasmuch as the revenue has increased. The most important item of expenditure is the cost of labour, and the actuals under this head show a decrease of 30 per cent. The result is, however, not so good, as there have been adjustments between the jetties and the docks for work done for the docks by the jetties which previously appeared in the jetty account, and is now debited to the docks. Allowing for this adjustment there is still a large decrease of 25 per cent.

The total charges on teas passed through the Tea Warehouse during 1901-1902, together with the rent received for the portion let out for storing piece-goods, amounted to Rs. 1,05,201. There was a decrease of Rs. 19,147 in the receipts, as compared with those of the previous year, due to a short crop and competition with Chittagong.

6. The income derived from the Petroleum Wharf amounted to Rs. 3,80,766, as compared with Rs. 3,98,655 in 1900-1901. The expenditure rose from Rs. 92,317 in 1900-1901 to Rs. 1,59,200 in 1901-1902. The increase was mainly due to the heavy importation of case oil, on which the Commissioners had to pay handling charges to the contractors.

The importation of oil from Russia was 72 per cent. of the total quantity imported in the year under review. Only 7 per cent. was American oil, and 21 per cent. was imported from Rangoon.

Owing to the large expansion of the bulk oil trade, the Commissioners have sold to the Standard Oil Company and Messrs. Shaw, Wallace and Company two sheds at Budge-Budge with a lease for 10 years of the ground on which these sheds stand. The Commissioners are also considering proposals for more accommodation for this trade.

7. During the year 230 vessels with an aggregate tonnage of 699,226 tons were berthed at the Jetties, against 212 vessels with a tonnage of 605,171 tons during 1900-1901. The average number of days each vessel occupied the Jetties was 7.6.

8. The receipts under the head "Port and Port Approaches" amounted to Rs. 11,73,553. There was an increase of Rs. 12,983 in the income of the previous year. There was also an increase of expenditure of Rs. 20,735, of which Rs. 14,352 were outstanding, so that there was a net improvement of Rs. 6,600. There is still a considerable deficit on the working of these two branches. This deficit is, however, steadily diminishing year by year; the improvement being due to the increased number of vessels visiting the port.

The receipts from Port dues, which are included in the revenue of the Port Approaches Department, amounted to Rs. 5,45,246 against Rs. 5,29,495 in 1900-1901, while the expenditure during the year was Rs. 5,82,139 against Rs. 5,92,956 in the previous year. The increase in receipts was due, as stated above, to the larger amount of tonnage which entered the port.

9. The growth of commerce and the increased size of the vessels now trading to the Port rendered it necessary to enlarge the scope of the River Survey Department, and the following statement shows the extension that has taken place in the operations of the Department :—

		1885.	1900.	1901.
Miles sounded	...	1,295	5,864	7,231
Small charts and River Notices	...	20	606	718
Number of buoys	...	7	30	36
River marks	...	57	115	115

The most important feature of the year has been the improved state of the bars of the river, particularly that of the Eastern Gut. This improvement has generally been maintained, except in the case of the Royapore bar and the Sankrail reach, but in neither of these has any serious detention been caused to shipping.

10. There were 29 casualties to vessels in charge of Assistant Harbour Masters, against 18 in the preceding year and an average of 16 during the previous 10 years. In 17 cases the Assistant Harbour Masters were exonerated, and in 12 they were held, more or less, to blame. In two cases the casualties were of a serious nature, and investigations were held under the orders of the Government.

11. The revenue derived from the Commissioners' railway was Rs. 5,32,515, while the expenditure amounted to Rs. 4,35,923, leaving a balance of Rs. 96,593, against Rs. 1,37,184 in the preceding year. The decrease was due to a decline in the receipts from the hire of wagons lent to the various railway companies.

12. The receipts from the Docks were Rs. 24,14,147, against Rs. 23,77,451 in 1900-1901, while the expenditure exclusive of interest and sinking fund charges amounted to Rs. 22,14,895, against Rs. 21,03,031 in 1900-1901.

The receipts from the hire of wagons, which were credited to the Docks in 1900-1901, have been treated this year as an asset of the Railway and credited to that head. There was a surplus balance of Rs. 1,99,252 at the close of the year to meet the interest and sinking fund charges. In these charges, however, there was an increase of Rs. 84,188 during the year owing to fresh loans incurred in 1900.

The details of the receipts and charges are given below:—

		Receipts.			Expenditure.
		Rs.			Rs.
Graving Dock	...	2,56,347	Salaries	...	4,71,491
Rent and miscellaneous	...	3,15,778	Working expenses	...	14,99,028
Imports	...	82,627	Repairs	...	93,400
Exports	...	17,56,745	Municipal taxes	...	1,50,476
Hopper barges	...	2,650
	Total	24,14,147		Total	22,14,895

After deducting the receipts on account of the Graving Dock, the income of the Wet Docks amounted to Rs. 21,57,800, while the expenditure, after deducting Rs. 58,308, directly chargeable to the Graving Docks, amounted to Rs. 21,56,587. There was thus a small deficit of Rs. 1,213. The net results are, however, actually more favourable, inasmuch as the revenue of the Docks last year was augmented by a credit of Rs. 94,120 on account of hire of wagons, and the expenditure of the current year includes a sum of Rs. 95,412 on account of demands payable and stores issued which should have been charged against the budget of the previous year. Making due allowance for these items, the working of the Docks shows an improvement.

The second Dry Dock is approaching completion. It will permit of vessels being docked for heavy repairs—an arrangement which has not hitherto been possible.

With the object of ensuring more general use being made of the facilities available for shipping from the Dock quays, the Commissioners resolved to provide arrangements to suit the requirements of each section of the trade. During the year these views were given effect to as regards the wheat and seed trade, for which additional sheds were erected to provide the necessary accommodation. The result has been that the whole of this trade has practically moved to the Docks.

The hide sheds, leased to Messrs. Schröder Smidt and Company, were the most important of the new works executed during the year.

13. A sum of Rs. 9,97,201 was realized from special tolls, levied under section 108 of the Calcutta Port Act of 1890, against Rs. 9,15,748 collected during the previous years. The expenditure was reduced from Rs. 21,153 in 1900-1901 to Rs. 16,235 in 1901-1902. The increase in the receipts is due to an increase in the volume of trade.

14. The proposal to connect Saugor and the Eastern Channel Light Ships by means of wireless telegraphy awaits the result of the experiments and enquiries now being conducted by the Government of India, Telegraph Department.

Wireless Telegraphy.

Mr. F. G. Dumayne held the office of Vice-Chairman from the 25th April 1901. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to the Commissioners and specially to Mr. Dumayne for the able management of the Trust during the year under review.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

N.B.—In the weekly abstract from 9th to 15th November 1902 read 65.9 as mean wet bulb on the 14th November 1902.
Ditto ditto 16th to 22nd November 1902 read 66 miles recorded on the 18th November 1902.

NOTIFICATION.

Oral Examination in the knowledge of English idiom and pronunciation prescribed in the case of Teachers of English and those who teach through the medium of English in Secondary Schools.

In order to carry out a recommendation of the Simla Educational Conference of 1901 which was also approved by the Government of India, His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal has been pleased to direct that all new teachers to be appointed in future and who are to teach English or other subjects through the medium of English in Secondary Schools, whether managed directly by the Education Department and by the District Boards and Municipalities, or aided by the Department or such local bodies, must have passed an oral examination in English idiom and pronunciation and hold certificates to that effect. It is proposed to enforce this rule from 1st April 1903. Masters who will teach only through the vernaculars are exempted from this examination.

2. Teachers who are already in service and vernacular teachers hereafter to be appointed shall not in future be promoted to posts which involve teaching in English or through the medium of English until they have passed the examination now prescribed.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that managers of unaided Schools will co-operate heartily in the object which the Government has in view, namely, the improvement of the teaching of English in Secondary Schools.

4. Inspectors of Schools, Principals and Professors of Colleges affiliated to the Calcutta University, and Principals of Training Colleges are authorised to hold this examination, provided that they themselves have been born in Great Britain and Ireland or in an English-speaking Colony and have been educated in the British Islands, or in any such British Colony. As there is no likelihood of the several offices referred to being always held by gentlemen possessing the qualifications specified, it is not possible to fix the various centres of the examination permanently, except in a few cases.

5. The Colleges and Offices below named are fixed as centres permanent for practical purposes, for holding the examination above prescribed, as in them European Officers of the Indian Educational Service appointed from England will ordinarily be available to conduct the Examination.

Calcutta.

Presidency College, Calcutta, European Principal and European Professors.
Calcutta Madrasa, ditto ditto.
Office of Inspector of European Schools, Bengal.

Patna.

Patna College, European Principal and European Professors.
Office of European Inspector of Schools, Patna Division.

Jalpaiguri.

Office of European Inspector of Schools, Rajshahi Division.

Dacca.

Dacca College, European Principal and European Professors.

Kurssong.

Victoria Training College, European Principal and European Teachers.

6. In addition to the above named officers, the Principals and Professors of aided and unaided Colleges affiliated to the Calcutta University who possess the requisite qualifications, will be competent to hold the examination and their co-operation in the matter is cordially invited.

7. Only those persons who have passed the University Entrance examination, or one of the higher examinations of Indian Universities, the High School examination of European Schools, or the Final School examination which it is proposed shortly to introduce, will be eligible to appear at the new examination, and such candidates will be at liberty to apply to any one of the Officers named above with a view to being examined. Arrangements for examination to be held by the Educational Officers under Government mentioned above will be made at once. The examination will be held quarterly in March, June, September and December on such dates as may be fixed by the Officers who are authorised to conduct this examination.

8. The examination of each candidate probably need not take much time. A candidate should be required to read short passages from English prose and poetry and should be put to a colloquial test in two or three different subjects.

9. It has also been decided that for the first year of operation of this order candidates shall not be required to pay fees, and that the question of the remuneration of Examiners need not be considered until it has been ascertained how many persons present themselves for examination.

10. The certificate may be given in the following form, which should be forwarded to the Director of Public Instruction for countersignature :—

"Certified that _____, son of _____, of _____ Village in the district of _____, who has presented a certificate of having passed the _____ examination in the year _____, has appeared at an oral examination held at _____ on the _____ for the purpose of testing his knowledge of English idiom and pronunciation, and that in these respects the Examinee is, in the opinion of the undersigned, qualified to teach English in Secondary Schools in Bengal."

5. A Promissory Note for a sum, calculated according to the scale, noted in the margin, shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room and before the lot is registered in the sale-book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal receipts or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 3-30 P.M., in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the said notes must be redeemed by 1-30 P.M., or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal receipts or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

of Bengal receipts or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6. The said Promissory Notes shall be absolutely payable in any event, and the amount thereof shall be absolutely forfeited upon such default as before mentioned, and the amount thereof shall not go or be credited in reduction of any loss on re-sale or expenses thereby incurred, but shall be recoverable whether such re-sale shall be had or not, or whether there shall be a loss on such re-sale or not.

7. The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the fifth condition, if remaining unredeemed at 3-30 P.M. of the fifth day following the day of sale, or 1-30 P.M., if the last day falls on a Saturday, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

8. No tender of money, Bank of Bengal receipts, or public securities, on account of opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before the prescribed time in clause 5 on the fifth day following the day of sale, will be afterwards accepted. Provided always that money so subsequently tendered may be taken in payment of the said Promissory Note, but such acceptance of money shall in no way entitle the payer thereof to any right to delivery of the lot or lots in respect whereof the said note was given, or to any of the rights of a purchaser thereof, or release the payer from liability for any unpaid balance of such notes or from the additional liability for the loss and expenses of such re-sale as provided for in clauses No. 5 and No. 6.

9. The opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 3-30 P.M. of the fifteenth day from the day of sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the opium must be paid for by 1-30 P.M.; and in case any lots of such opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good all expenses and any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale, and the liability for the loss or difference of price and expenses shall be in addition to, and wholly independent of, the amount of the deposit so forfeited.

10. Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests ordinarily required to be included in each certificate or order.

11. No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present conditions will be received in this office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale-book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

12. The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand render at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal receipts, or Government securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these conditions.

13. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually by Rs. 5 at a time until a bid is obtained; and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot, after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described, shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these conditions.

14. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complete the said twenty-five.

15. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

16. The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue:— No. 1, Certificate of the opium advertised for sale; No. 2, Report of the examination of such opium.

17. The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured at the Patna Factory and the opium manufactured at the Ghazipur Factory for the year 1901-1902, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug, when packed at the Patna and Ghazipur Factories, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

18. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board of Revenue entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.

These should be in their appointed places by 10 A.M.

A Guard of Honour of British troops will be drawn up within the Amphitheatre in front of the Dais. Guards will also be posted at the separate entrances at the back of the Amphitheatre, leading to the various Blocks of seats for High Officers and Ruling Chiefs. A battalion of British Infantry will be detailed for these and other duties, and will be placed at the disposal of the Foreign Secretary.

Spectators should be seated not later than 10-15 A.M. They will reach their places by the steps at the back of the Amphitheatre leading to the Blocks in which their seats are situated, according to the coloured letter printed upon their admission cards. Ruling Chiefs should be in their seats not later than 11 A.M., and the Heads of Local Governments and Administrations and the Members of the Governor General's Council by 11-15 A.M. These also will reach their seats by the steps at the back of their Blocks.

Arrivals.

Ruling Chiefs, Heads of Local Governments and Administrations, the Commander-in-Chief, the Members of Governor-General's Council, and the Lieutenant-Generals of Commands will be met, on alighting, by Officers of the Foreign Department and the Military Officers on duty, who will conduct them to their seats. As the Chiefs and High Officers entitled to salutes enter, the guards posted at the entrance to their Block will present arms.

At 11-15 A.M. the surviving Veterans of the Mutiny, both European and Native, will march into the Amphitheatre, to the Block allotted to them, and the Massed Bands within the arena will play a suitable March. With the exception of these Veterans, no one, except Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and His Excellency the Viceroy, will enter the Amphitheatre by the road leading to the Viceregal Dais.

From 10-30 A.M. to 12 noon, the Massed Bands within the arena will play selections for the entertainment of the spectators.

Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught will leave the Viceregal Camp at 11-15 A.M., with an escort of one squadron of British and one squadron of Native Cavalry.

As the Royal carriage reaches the point where the road turns in to the Amphitheatre, Their Royal Highnesses will be received with a Royal Salute by the troops drawn up outside the arena, including a salute of 31 guns. As Their Royal Highnesses drive into the arena and approach the Dais, the Guard of Honour in front of the Dais will present arms and the Massed Bands within the arena will play the National Anthem. All present will rise as the National Anthem is played and will remain standing until Their Royal Highnesses have taken their seats.

His Excellency the Viceroy will leave the Viceregal Camp at 11-30 A.M., with an escort of one British Cavalry Regiment, the Imperial Cadet Corps, His Excellency's Body Guard, and a Regiment of Native Cavalry. As the Viceregal carriage reaches the point where the road turns in to the Amphitheatre, His Excellency will be received by a Royal Salute by all the troops drawn up outside the arena. No guns will be fired at this stage. His Excellency will then drive into the Amphitheatre, accompanied by the Cadet Corps and the Body Guard. The remainder of the escort will form up outside the arena, on either side of the road behind the Infantry of the escort who, with the Battery of the escort, will previously have been drawn up at this spot. All present will rise as the Viceroy enters the arena, and will remain standing until he has taken his seat.

Arrival of the Viceroy.

As His Excellency approaches the Dais, the Guard of Honour in front of the Dais will present arms, the Massed Bands in the centre of the arena will play the National Anthem, the Viceregal Standard will be hoisted, and a Royal Salute of 31 guns will be fired. On alighting, His Excellency, preceded by his Staff, will ascend the steps and take his seat on the Throne. The spectators will then resume their seats.

At the conclusion of the salute, the Foreign Secretary will ask His Excellency's permission to open the Durbar.

Opening of the Durbar.

The Bands within the arena will then sound a summons to the Herald. The Herald, with the Trumpeters accompanying him, who will be posted with the escort outside, will reply with a flourish of trumpets and will ride up to the Amphitheatre. They will halt at the entrance and sound another flourish of trumpets.

The Proclamation.

They will then ride to the front of the Viceregal Dais, form up and sound a third flourish. The Herald will then, at the command of the Viceroy, read the Proclamation, announcing the Coronation of His Majesty the King, Emperor of India. When reading the Proclamation, the Herald will turn and face the entrance to the Amphitheatre. When the Proclamation has been read, the Herald will sound another flourish. As this flourish concludes, the Royal Standard will be hoisted on the flagstaff in the centre of the Amphitheatre, the Massed Bands within the arena will play the National Anthem, and the Guard of Honour within the arena will present arms. All the spectators will rise from their seats and remain standing while the National Anthem is being played. On the completion of the National Anthem, the Herald and Trumpeters will retire to the entrance. When the Royal Standard is hoisted, and as the National Anthem concludes, an Imperial Salute of 101 guns will be fired, in the same way as at the Parades on the 1st of January and the King's Birthday, a Feu-de-Joie being fired and the National Anthem played at the customary intervals. While the Salute is being fired, and in the intervals between the playing of the National Anthem, the Massed Bands in the Amphitheatre will play appropriate selections.

When the Royal Salute concludes, and immediately after the final National Anthem is played, the Herald and Trumpeters at the entrance will sound a prolonged flourish. As the flourish concludes, His Excellency the Viceroy will rise and address the Durbar. At the conclusion of His Excellency's Address, the Herald and Trumpeters will again advance to the front of the Dais, where they will sound another flourish, and the Herald, raising his cap, will call for three cheers for the King-Emperor, which will be joined in by all the spectators in the Amphitheatre. As soon as these cheers have subsided, the General Officer Commanding the Troops outside will similarly call for three cheers for the King-Emperor, and these cheers will be given by the entire body of troops outside (but by no one inside) the arena. At the conclusion of the cheering, the Bands will again play the National Anthem, after which the Herald and Trumpeters will retire from the arena.

The Foreign Secretary will next ask permission to present the Ruling Chiefs present at the Durbar. The Ruling Chiefs will, in the order previously arranged, advance to the front of the Dais in turn, and will briefly offer their congratulations to His Majesty the King-Emperor, through His Excellency the Viceroy, who with His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught will receive them standing. At the conclusion of the presentation, the Foreign Secretary will request permission to close the Durbar.

Presentation of Ruling Chiefs.

His Excellency will then depart in the same manner and with the same ceremonies as he came, the first gun of the salute being fired as His Excellency enters his carriage. After the departure of His Excellency, Their Royal Highnesses will leave the Durbar in the same way and with the same honours as upon their arrival. After the Royal cortège has left the arena, the Representatives of Foreign Powers, the Heads of the Local Governments and Administrations, the Ruling Chiefs, the Commander-in-Chief, the Members of the Governor-General's Council and the Lieutenant-Generals of Commands will depart from the inside of the Amphitheatre into which their carriages will be brought. They will be conducted to their carriages by officers detailed for the purpose. No other carriages will be admitted into the arena.

Departures.

Spectators, who will depart by the gangways and steps at the back of the Amphitheatre in the same manner as they arrived, are requested not to leave their seats till the Representatives of Foreign Powers, the Ruling Chiefs, and the High Officials have left the arena.

Full dress will be worn. Gentlemen not entitled to wear uniform will appear in morning dress.

IN order to facilitate the early delivery of postal articles intended for persons residing in any of the camps at Delhi during the Coronation Durbar, the public are requested to specify clearly in the address the name of the particular camp in which the addressee is residing and to add the words "Delhi Coronation Durbar" or "Delhi Durbar" as the last words of the address. It is particularly requested that the name of the post town "Delhi" may not be added as the last word of the address, as articles intended for the camp which are so addressed will, in the first instance, have to be sent to the permanent post office at Delhi, and will consequently be delayed.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Report of the Select Committee appointed to consider the Bill to validate certain transfers, made under the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, of shares in permanent tenures and shares in holdings at fixed rents or fixed rates; and to amend sections 18 and 106 of that Act, together with the Bill as amended by them, is, by order of the President, published for general information:—

REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE ON THE BILL TO VALIDATE CERTAIN TRANSFERS, MADE UNDER THE BENGAL TENANCY ACT, 1885, OF SHARES IN PERMANENT TENURES AND SHARES IN HOLDINGS AT FIXED RENTS OR FIXED RATES; AND TO AMEND SECTIONS 18 AND 106 OF THAT ACT.

WE, the undersigned Members of the Select Committee appointed

Paper No. 19.—Letter, dated 7th November, 1902, from the District and Sessions Judge, Midnapore.

2. The amendments which we have made in the Bill and which are of any importance have been explained in the following paragraphs.

3. The title of the Bill has been altered for the reasons set forth in paragraph 5 of this Report.

4. Preamble.—Paragraphs 5 and 6.—While preserving the substance of paragraph 5 of the original preamble, we have made verbal changes and inter alia omit mention of the Inspector-General of Registration, who was not responsible for the erroneous instructions issued in 1888.

Paragraph 7.—We have made amendments in the sixth paragraph of the original preamble which are partly clerical and are partly involved in our recommendation as to extension of the scope of the Bill which is explained in paragraph 5 of this Report.

We have omitted the seventh paragraph of the original preamble in the view that it is sufficiently clear that section 18 is governed by the provisions of section 17.

5. Clause 1.—We have accepted the view which has been represented in the reports received on the Bill to the effect that its scope should be extended so as to apply to cases of transfer of entire tenures and holdings at fixed rents which have been inadvertently made without payment of landlords' fees; and we have further extended the scope of the Bill so that it will apply also to cases of transfers which may hereafter be inadvertently made without payment of such fees.

For the proviso to this clause we have substituted two provisos containing fresh matter as follows:—

(a) The first proviso saves from the effect of the Bill cases of transfer which have come before and have been finally decided by the Courts.

(b) The second proviso gives the landlord, within a certain limited time, power to apply to the Collector for the realisation of his fee from the transferee, and requires the Collector on such application being made to realise the fee as if it were an arrear of revenue.

6. For the reason stated in paragraph 4 of this Report, we have struck out clause 3 of the Bill as introduced in Council which proposed to amend section 18 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885.

7. In clause 4 of the Bill we have thought it best to re-cast section 106 of the Act in order to prevent doubt with regard to the expression "If * * * a dispute arises."

In accordance with the general opinion that the period of two months allowed for the filing of suits before the Revenue officer is too short, we have extended the period to three months.

8. We recommend that the Bill, as now amended, be passed.

[AS AMENDED BY THE SELECT COMMITTEE.]

BILL

To validate certain transfers, made under the Bengal Tenancy Act, VIII of 1885 1885, of permanent tenures and holdings at fixed rents or fixed rates and of shares in the same; and to amend section 106 of that Act.

WHEREAS section 12 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, prohibits Registering-officers from registering any instrument purporting or operating to transfer a permanent tenure unless the prescribed landlord's fee is paid to them, for transmission to the landlord;

And whereas section 13 of the said Act directs the Civil Courts, before confirming the sale of a permanent tenure in execution of a decree other than a decree for arrears of rent, and before making a decree or order absolute for the foreclosure of a mortgage of a permanent tenure, to require the purchaser or mortgagee to pay the prescribed landlord's fee, for transmission to the landlord;

And whereas section 17 of the said Act declares that the said sections 12 and 13, among other sections, shall apply also to the transfer of a share in a permanent tenure;

And whereas section 18 of the said Act declares that a raiyat holding at a rent or rate of rent fixed in perpetuity shall be subject to the same provisions with respect to the transfer of his holding as the holder of a permanent tenure;

And whereas, in consequence of the provisions of section 17 of the said Act having been overlooked, transfers of shares in such tenures and holdings have been registered without payment of the prescribed landlord's fee;

And whereas sales of such tenures and holdings and of shares in the same have been confirmed by Civil Courts under the said section 13 without payment of the said fee;

And whereas it is expedient to declare that registered transfers and sales and decrees or orders for foreclosure of mortgage, confirmed and made absolute by the Civil Courts, of permanent tenures and holdings at fixed rates and fixed rents, and of shares in such tenures and holdings, shall not be deemed to be invalid merely on the ground that the said fee has not been paid;

And whereas it is also expedient to amend section 106 of the said Act in manner hereinafter appearing;

And whereas, the said Act having been passed by the Governor General of India in Council, the sanction of the Governor General has been obtained, under section 5 of the Indian Councils Act, 1892, to the passing of this Act;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Final Forecast of the Winter Rice crop of Bengal, 1902.

Character of the Season.—The rainfall of the season, from May to November, is given in Appendix II of this forecast. The ante-monsoon showers were exceptionally heavy, especially in Eastern Bengal, but the monsoon broke late, and the fall in June was short, the deficiency being most marked in Bihar and Chota Nagpur. July brought good rain though there was defect in parts of Bihar and Lower Bengal. On the other hand, the fall was excessive in Orissa and parts of Eastern Bengal. In August the fall was deficient in Bihar, Chota Nagpur, and in parts of the Burdwan and Presidency Divisions, but was good elsewhere. In the following month, however, there was plentiful rain in Bihar and Chota Nagpur, and in Northern Bengal the fall was greatly in excess of the normal, while elsewhere it was, on the whole, slightly in defect. October was unusually dry almost all over the Province, so that the monsoon may be said to have terminated in September. November has been literally a rainless month. On the whole, the season, though capricious, has not been unfavourable to the winter rice crop.

Area sown.—The normal area under the winter rice crop in this Province is estimated at 29,879,300 acres. The area actually sown this year is estimated at 29,307,900 acres, as compared with 27,175,400 acres sown last year, the increase being due to seasonable weather during transplantations.

Character of the Crop.—From the summary of the district returns given in Appendix I, it will be seen that Birbhum, Rajshahi, Dinajpur, Jalpaiguri, Darjeeling, Rangpur, Bogra, Dacca, Faridpur, Backergunge, Chittagong, Champaran, Purnea, Malda, Sonthal Parganas, and Manbhum estimate an outturn of 100 per cent., or over. In twelve districts (24-Parganas, Khulna, Mymensingh, Tippera, Noakhali, Gaya, Shahabad, Muzaffarpur, Bhagalpur, Cuttack, Puri, and Singbhum) the estimate varies between 90 and 99 per cent., and in six it varies from 80 to 89 per cent. In nine others the outturn is estimated at between 70 and 79 per cent., while the remaining two districts show an outturn below 60 per cent. Since the submission of the preliminary forecast of this crop in October last, prospects have deteriorated in 20 districts, have remained unchanged in thirteen (Murshidabad, Khulna, Rajshahi, Dinajpur, Jalpaiguri, Darjeeling, Dacca, Faridpur, Backergunge, Noakhali, Champaran, Purnea, and Hazaribagh), and have improved slightly in twelve districts (Rangpur, Bogra, Tippera, Patna, Gaya, Shahabad, Saran, Monghyr, Bhagalpur, Manbhum, Muzaffarpur, and Darbhanga). Had it not been for the deficiency of the October rains, the crop would have been much above the average. In the first forecast of this crop issued in October, I anticipated a normal outturn for the Province as a whole, if the rest of the season were favourable and especially if the Hathiya rains in Bihar did not fail. But the October rains partially failed, and the final estimates now made by the District Officers give an outturn of only 94 per cent. for the whole Province, which may be accepted.

Gross outturn.—Taking the Provincial outturn at 94 per cent., as estimated by me, the gross outturn for the Province will amount to about 303,605,900 cwts. this year, as compared with an estimated outturn of 221,618,200 cwts. in 1901.

									A normal outturn is expected everywhere. The slight increase in area in the Bhola subdivision is due to the fact that some land under ajra was sown with amra , when the former crop failed.

As was explained in the preliminary forecast, the increase in the area sown is due to the failure of the jute crop. The improvement shown on the preliminary forecast is due to favourable rainfall during the past two months.

The decrease in column 4 is due to revision of estimate and that in column 9 is due to excessive rainfall at the time of sowing. The increase in column 7 is partly due to the fact that the area left unsown by the paddy on account of excessive rainfall was taken up by the winter rice and is partly the result of a special enquiry.

The figures in column 7 against Sadar and Dinapur have been revised, for want of sufficient rain at the time of transplantation the full normal area was not sown.

The full normal area could not be cultivated for want of sufficient and timely rain. The outturn also has been affected for the same reason.

The charges for feeding the animals were Rs. 14,372-3-6, against Rs. 13,116-5-6. The excess was due to the fluctuating rates at which food-grains were sold during the year, and to cost of supplying fresh meat for some sick and delicate animals, and also to an increase in the number of certain animals.

Rupees 2,346-2 and Rs. 1,379-4 were respectively expended on account of purchase and transport of animals, against Rs. 2,987-9 and Rs. 384-12-3, respectively, in the previous year.

FINAL FORECAST OF THE BHADOI CROPS OF BENGAL, 1902.

THE following Note is published for general information.

W. C. MACPHERSON,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The 10th December 1902.

DEPARTMENT OF LAND RECORDS AND AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Final Forecast of the Bhadoi Crops of Bengal, 1902.

Explanatory.—This note furnishes estimates of the area and outturn of all descriptions of bhadoi crops, except jute, indigo, cotton and bhadoi til, which form the chief bhadoi non-food crops of the Province. Separate forecasts of jute, indigo and cotton are issued by this Department, and bhadoi til is included in the report on oil-seed crops. This report therefore deals mainly with the bhadoi food-crops, of which the most important are bhadoi paddy, Indian-corn and millets. These three together make up more than four-fifths of the total area under all the bhadoi food-crops. Bhadoi paddy is chiefly grown in Bengal and Orissa, and occupies 60 per cent. of the total bhadoi food-crop area of the Province. Maize and millets predominate in Bihar and occupy 26 per cent. of this area.

The character of the season.—The rainfall in March and April exceeded the normal almost throughout the Province, and in May also there was fair rain everywhere, except in a few districts of Bihar and Chota Nagpur. The monsoon broke late in June, and the fall in that month was seriously in defect in the Patna and Chota Nagpur Divisions; while, on the other hand, in North and Eastern Bengal, it was excessive, thus aggravating the injury caused by the abnormally heavy ante-monsoon showers. July was a seasonable month, but in August the fall was again deficient, except in North and East Bengal, while floods at the end of the month caused much damage in the Muzaffarpur and Darbhanga districts. In the following month, however, there was copious and general rain in Bihar and Chota Nagpur, and in North Bengal the fall was greatly above the normal, while elsewhere it was, on the whole, slightly in defect. October was abnormally dry almost everywhere and November has been literally rainless, and, on the whole, the season has not been quite favourable to the bhadoi crops.

Area sown.—Excluding the areas cultivated with jute, indigo, cotton and bhadoi til, the normal area under the different bhadoi crops in this Province amounts, according to the district returns which are summarised in Appendix I, to 13,007,100 acres, against 12,978,000 acres reported last year. The increase is due to the revised estimates submitted by the Deputy Commissioner of Ranchi after careful enquiry and by the District Officers of Darbhanga and the Sonthal Parganas in the light of the recent survey figures. The area actually sown this year with bhadoi crops is reported to be 12,559,700 acres, as compared with 12,659,900 acres cultivated last year. The area planted this year with bhadoi food-crops is estimated at 12,075,300 acres, against 12,181,300 acres sown last year.

Character of the crop.—It will be seen from Appendix I that only twelve—(Birbhum, 24 Parganas, Rajshahi, Darjeeling, Bogra, Dacca, Champaran, Malda, Balasore, Hazaribagh, Manbhum, and Singhbhum) out of the 45 districts in the Province, report a crop of 100 per cent. or over; in ten districts—(Nadia, Khulna, Dinajpur, Chittagong, Saran, Purnea, Sonthal Parganas, Cuttack, Puri and Ranchi) the outturn is estimated at between 90 and 99 per cent.; in nine others, the estimate varies between 80 and 89 per cent., while in the remaining 14, it varies between 59 and 79 per cent. Since the issue of the preliminary forecast in September last, prospects have improved in 11 districts; have remained unchanged in 23; and have deteriorated in 11. According to the estimates of the District Officers, the total outturn for the Province as a whole, of the various bhadoi crops dealt with in this forecast, will amount to only 88 per cent. of a normal crop, against 90 per cent., as finally estimated by me last year. In the first forecast of these crops, issued in September last, I anticipated a 90 per cent. crop for the entire Province, and I see no reason to change that estimate.

Gross outturn.—Except in the case of bhadoi paddy, it is not possible to estimate the outturn of these crops. Taking 88 per cent. as the probable outturn of the bhadoi paddy this year, the gross outturn of cleaned bhadoi rice may be estimated at 47,209,700 cwts., as compared with 47,499,700 cwts. of the past year.

and Agriculture, Bengal.*

The Subdivisional Officer of Kushtia has submitted revised figures on enquiry. The increase in the area is due to seasonal rainfall. The decrease in the area sown under "Indian corn" is due to the increased cultivation of bhadoi paddy.

Low estimate is owing to want of good rains in the latter part of the season.

Since the submission of the first forecast nothing has happened to alter the estimate made therein.

The total fall from 1st January to 13th December 1902 61.62

The average fall of the corresponding period for 24 years, Surveyor-General's Office 65.22

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

c, overcast, g, gloomy; D, dew.

Director of Public Instruction, Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

Oral Examination in the knowledge of English idiom and pronunciation prescribed in the case of Teachers of English and those who teach through the medium of English in Secondary Schools.

In order to carry out a recommendation of the Simla Educational Conference of 1901 which was also approved by the Government of India, His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal has been pleased to direct that all new teachers to be appointed in future and who are to teach English or other subjects through the medium of English in Secondary Schools, whether managed directly by the Education Department and by the District Boards and Municipalities, or aided by the Department or such local bodies, must have passed an oral examination in English idiom and pronunciation and hold certificates to that effect. It is proposed to enforce this rule from 1st April 1903. Masters who will teach only through the vernaculars are exempted from this examination.

2. Teachers who are already in service and vernacular teachers hereafter to be appointed shall not in future be promoted to posts which involve teaching in English or through the medium of English until they have passed the examination now prescribed.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that managers of unaided Schools will co-operate heartily in the object which the Government has in view, namely, the improvement of the teaching of English in Secondary Schools.

4. Inspectors of Schools, Principals and Professors of Colleges affiliated to the Calcutta University, and Principals of Training Colleges are authorised to hold this examination, provided that they themselves have been born in Great Britain and Ireland or in an English-speaking Colony and have been educated in the British Islands, or in any such British Colony. As there is no likelihood of the several offices referred to being always held by gentlemen possessing the qualifications specified, it is not possible to fix the various centres of the examination permanently, except in a few cases.

5. The Colleges and Offices below named are fixed as centres permanent for practical purposes, for holding the examination above prescribed, as in them European Officers of the Indian Educational Service appointed from England will ordinarily be available to conduct the Examination.

Calcutta.

- Presidency College, Calcutta, European Principal and European Professors.
- Calcutta Madrasa, ditto ditto.
- Office of Inspector of European Schools, Bengal.

Patna.

- Patna College, European Principal and European Professors.
- Office of European Inspector of Schools, Patna Division.

Jalpaiguri.

- Office of European Inspector of Schools, Rajshahi Division.

Dacca.

- Dacca College, European Principal and European Professors.

Kurseong.

- Victoria Training College, European Principal and European Teachers.

6. In addition to the above named officers, the Principals and Professors of aided and unaided Colleges affiliated to the Calcutta University who possess the requisite qualifications, will be competent to hold the examination and their co-operation in the matter is cordially invited.

7. Only those persons who have passed the University Entrance examination, or one of the higher examinations of Indian Universities, the High School examination of European Schools, or the Final School examination which it is proposed shortly to introduce, will be eligible to appear at the new examination, and such candidates will be at liberty to apply to any one of the Officers named above with a view to being examined. Arrangements for examination to be held by the Educational Officers under Government mentioned above will be made at once. The examination will be held quarterly in March, June, September and December on such dates as may be fixed by the Officers who are authorised to conduct this examination.

8. The examination of each candidate probably need not take much time. A candidate should be required to read short passages from English prose and poetry and should be put to a colloquial test in two or three different subjects.

9. It has also been decided that for the first year of operation of this order candidates shall not be required to pay fees, and that the question of the remuneration of Examiners need not be considered until it has been ascertained how many persons present themselves for examination.

10. The certificate may be given in the following form, which should be forwarded to the Director of Public Instruction for countersignature :—

"Certified that _____, son of _____, of _____ Village in the district of _____, who has presented a certificate of having passed the _____ examination in the year _____, has appeared at an oral examination held at _____ on the _____ for the purpose of testing his knowledge of English idiom and pronunciation, and that in these respects the Examinee is, in the opinion of the undersigned, qualified to teach English in Secondary Schools in Bengal."

The following are the conditions of sale:—

1. The opium will be sold for exportation by sea only, and no certificate will be granted except to cover such export.

2. The opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 800 per chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by clause 13 of these conditions of sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

3. The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M., of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M., but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or if the whole quantity advertised shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Board of Revenue may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4. Each lot shall contain five chests.

5. A Promissory Note for a sum, calculated according to the scale, noted in the margin,

DEPOSIT.

When the amount bid is less than Rs. 1,200 per chest, Rs. 200 per chest.

On bids of Rs. 1,200 and upwards, but less than Rs. 1,600 per chest, Rs. 300 per chest.

On bids of Rs. 1,600 and upwards, but less than Rs. 2,000 per chest, Rs. 400 per chest.

And so on, Rs. 100 being added to the deposit for every bid additional to the extent of Rs. 400.

shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room and before the lot is registered in the sale-book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal receipts or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 3-30 P.M., in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the said notes must be redeemed by 1-30 P.M., or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal receipts or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6. The said Promissory Notes shall be absolutely payable in any event, and the amount thereof shall be absolutely forfeited upon such default as before mentioned, and the amount thereof shall not go or be credited in reduction of any loss on re-sale or expenses thereby incurred, but shall be recoverable whether such re-sale shall be had or not, or whether there shall be a loss on such re-sale or not.

7. The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the fifth condition, if remaining unredeemed at 3-30 P.M. of the fifth day following the day of sale, or 1-30 P.M., if the last day falls on a Saturday, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

8. No tender of money, Bank of Bengal receipts, or public securities, on account of opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before the prescribed time in clause 5 on the fifth day following the day of sale, will be afterwards accepted. Provided always that money so subsequently tendered may be taken in payment of the said Promissory Note, but such acceptance of money shall in no way entitle the payer thereof to any right to delivery of the lot or lots in respect whereof the said note was given, or to any of the rights of a purchaser thereof, or release the payer from liability for any unpaid balance of such notes or from the additional liability for the loss and expenses of such re-sale as provided for in clauses No. 5 and No. 6.

9. The opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 3-30 P.M. of the fifteenth day from the day of sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the opium must be paid for by 1-30 P.M.; and in case any lots of such opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good all expenses and any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale, and the liability for the loss or difference of price and expenses shall be in addition to, and wholly independent of, the amount of the deposit so forfeited.

10. Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests ordinarily required to be included in each certificate or order.

11. No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present conditions will be received in this office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale-book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

12. The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand render at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal receipts, or Government securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these conditions.

13. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually by Rs. 5 at a time until a bid is obtained; and the first bona fide bidder for a lot, after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described, shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these conditions.

14. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complete the said twenty-five.

15. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

16. The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue:—No. 1, Certificate of the opium advertised for sale; No. 2, Report of the examination of such opium.

17. The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured at the Patna Factory and the opium manufactured at the Ghazipur Factory for the year 1901-1902, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug, when packed at the Patna and Ghazipur Factories, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

18. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board of Revenue entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.

as amended by Act I (B.C.) of 1899, against 1,470, or 42·6 per cent. in the previous year. The highest number of sales set aside was in the districts of Patna (114), Gaya (106), Shahabad (215), Saran (108), Muzaffarpur (148), and Darbhanga (170). No special complaint against the working of section 21 in the Patna Division has, however, been made.

15. During the year general revaluations were completed in the districts of the 24-Parganas (with the exception of rent-free lands), Bogra (with the exception of 18 estates), Purnea, and Puri. The revaluation of estates and tenures in the 24-Parganas has resulted in an increase of Rs. 87,058 (approximately), or of 41·2 per cent., on the previous assessment. In Bogra the increase obtained amounts to Rs. 14,968, or 17·9 per cent., on the former cess revenue, while in Purnea and Puri the operations have resulted in an increase of Rs. 50,183 and Rs. 2,676, or 26·5 and 3·9 per cent., respectively. The districts under complete revaluation were Hooghly, Nadia, Khulna, Rajshahi (with the exception of 22 estates and 68 rent-free lands), Jalpaiguri (Regulation and Non Regulation portions), Rangpur, Gaya, Shahabad, Cuttack, Balasore, and Hazaribagh.

19. When the road cess was first assessed in 40 districts the gross rental or valuation of those districts was Rs. 15,11,61,432.

Gross rental.

Subsequently the districts of Khulna and Palamau were created, and the Act was extended to them and to the district of Singhbhum. The gross rental, or valuation, of the 43 districts shows an increase in the past year from Rs. 16,80,89,551 to Rs. 17,03,53,369, or of Rs. 22,63,818, which is chiefly due to revaluation in the districts of the 24-Parganas, Nadia, Backergunge, Tippera, Shahabad, and Ranchi, and to the assessment of coal mines and resumed chakran (service) lands in Burdwan and the valuation of ghatwali lands in Birbhum. The decrease in the gross rental of Rs. 87,456 in Singhbhum from Rs. 5,08,000 to Rs. 4,20,544 is noticeable, and is due to the annual revision of the assessments of mines and forests under Chapter V of the Act, and, in particular, to the exemption during the year, in accordance with the Advocate-General's opinion, of the premia paid by lessees for mining rights.

TRIENNIAL REVENUE REPORT OF BENGAL.

No. 1691 I.A.

Government of Bengal.

IRRIGATION DEPARTMENT.

ACCOUNTS.

Dated Calcutta, the 17th December 1902.

RESOLUTION.

The Canal Revenue Reports for the triennial period ending 31st March 1902.

READ—

The Canal Revenue Reports for the triennial period ending 31st March 1902, and the Chief Engineer's Note on the same.

The Major Irrigation Works are divided into two classes—

I.—Productive Works.

II.—Protective Works.

The Productive Works comprise the Orissa, the Midnapore, the Hijili Tidal, and the Sone Canals. These works are all in operation. The Protective Works, which are now in process of construction, are the Tribeni and Dhaka Canals. The Minor Works for navigation are the Calcutta and Eastern Canals, the Orissa Coast Canal, the Nadia Rivers, and the Gaighata and Buxi Khal: while the works for irrigation are the Saran, the Eden, and the Mathubani Canals.

2. The capital outlay on the Major Works in operation was Rs. 6,43,16,069* up to the end of March 1902. Their total length during the period under review remained the same, viz., 748 miles. Of this length, 495½ miles were both for irrigation and navigation, 223¾ miles for irrigation only, and 29 miles for navigation only. There was an increase of 19½ miles in the total length of distributaries, which now stands at 2,634 miles. The total area irrigable at the end of the triennial period was 1,416,374 acres.

On the Protective Works in progress the capital outlay (direct charges) incurred during the period under review was Rs. 4,39,907. Their total length, as estimated, is 78½ miles, and the area irrigable 127,500 acres.

Paragraphs 3 to 22 below will deal with the four Major Works in operation, viz., the Orissa, Midnapore, Hijili Tidal and Sone Canals, while paragraphs 23 to 31 will treat of the canals classed as Minor Works only.

3. The average receipts of the canal systems from all sources during the triennial period were Rs. 17,98,015 against the average working expenses of Rs. 13,00,301, showing an average net revenue of Rs. 4,97,714. This was less than the average net revenue for the period ending March 1899 by Rs. 63,111, but greater than that of the average for the period ending March 1896 by Rs. 3,95,938. Notwithstanding that the average working expenses were reduced by Rs. 1,10,317, the smaller surplus was entirely owing to the greater diminution in navigation receipts, caused by the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur and the Mogulserai-Gaya Railways.

4. The capital outlay up to the end of the year 1901-1902 on each of the canal systems and the financial results during the period under review are shown in the following statement:—

In the table below the average financial results of the canals during the period under review are compared with those of the five previous periods—

The canals rather more than pay their working expenses, but the net revenue does not go far towards paying the interest charges; the financial results are, however, improving, and with the prospects of enhanced water-rates will continue to improve.

5. The following statement shows the average areas irrigated by the Orissa, Midnapore and Sone Canals during the triennial period under review and the two previous periods:—

Triennial average ...	201,855	78,190	344,768	136,565	481,333	761,478	54.67

There is very little rabi irrigation from the Orissa and Midnapore Canals. Of the average areas irrigated from the Sone Canals under kharif during the last nine years, the season leases only averaged 18 per cent. of the total, the balance of the area irrigated being under long lease for seven years.

The areas irrigated are increasing every year. This shows that the people in the districts commanded by the Sone Canals are realizing more and more the benefits of canal irrigation, which assures them a bumper crop in time of drought and an increased outturn in years of ordinary rainfall.

In the famine year of 1896-97 and in 1901-1902 it is estimated that not less than 33 and 35 lakhs of maunds of grain were added to the food-supply of Bihar by these canals.

6. The progress made in the collection of water-rates during the triennial period under review and the two previous triennia is exhibited in the following table :—

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8

This table is instructive showing, as it does, that the very small outstanding balance at the end of the year continues to be one of the satisfactory features of the administration of these Canals. Excluding the sum of Rs. 6,141, which was uncollected in the Orissa Circle owing to a certain number of leases having been received late in March, the outstanding balance, out of a demand of Rs. 14,41,424, was only Rs. 787. This in itself is eminently satisfactory, but the decrease in the number of certificates and the small amount of irrecoverable items all clearly indicate, not only the excellent work done by the collecting establishment, but also the accuracy of the measurements made by the Canal Officers on which the demand statements are prepared.

7. The navigation receipts during the triennial period under review and the two previous periods are shown below :—

YEAR.	Orissa Canals.	Midnapore Canal.	Hijili Tidal Canal.	Sone Canals.	Total.	Miles open.	Tollage per mile.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
1899-1900 ...	Rs. 99,740	Rs. 89,789	Rs. 51,796	Rs. 85,526	Rs. 3,26,851	Miles. 524½	Rs. 623

1901-1902 ...	78,163	89,835	45,909	23,571	2,37,468	524½	453
Triennial average ...	89,344	92,451	47,725	48,448	2,77,968	524½	530

Triennial average for the period ending March 1896.	1,19,291	1,81,468	58,658	50,422	3,59,839	524½	686

The above statement is interesting, but it is also disappointing as it brings to notice the very marked decrease of revenue under navigation.

In the previous triennial period, the average receipts were the highest on record, and were due, in a great measure, to the large quantities of building materials which were boated along the canals for the adjoining railways then under construction. It is the opening of these same railways to traffic, viz., the Bengal-Nagpur and Mogulsarai-Gaya Railways, which has caused this great loss of revenue from navigation.

The receipts in 1901-1902 were barely one-half of what they were in 1895-1896, and unfortunately they continue to show a steady decrease each year. This is the more astonishing, as it has hitherto been an accepted fact that railways could never compete successfully with canals for the carriage of goods.

On the Sone canals the diminution of traffic is not surprising, as navigation never made much progress either in the Shahabad or Patna district. On the other canals, the results are very disappointing, inasmuch as, although it was foreseen that the pilgrim traffic to Puri would take to the railway, it was assumed that the canals would still retain the goods traffic. The whole question is under examination, and the Government of India will shortly be addressed on the subject.

8. The average miscellaneous revenue for the triennial period under review was Rs. 94,959 against the average of Rs. 92,010 during the previous period.

9. On the Orissa Canals the capital outlay incurred during the period under review amounted to Rs. 1,05,941. This sum was expended mainly on the construction of permanent outlets on distributaries, and on the Dudhai Canal.

10. The average receipts were Rs. 3,95,994, or Rs. 97,794 less than the average of the previous triennial period. The decrease took place under both water-rates and navigation. The falling off under navigation alone was more than Rs. 85,000. It was mainly due to the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway and the consequent abolition of the transport service.

11. The average area irrigated was 201,955 acres, or 10,123 acres more than the average of the previous period. The increase took place under khari.

12. The average working expenses during the last three years were Rs. 4,51,297 against Rs. 5,10,292 and Rs. 4,97,064, the averages for the two previous triennial periods. The decrease in the working expenses was due to there being no heavy flood damage repairs since no high floods occurred in the rivers.

13. Notwithstanding the decrease in the working expenses, the net result was a deficit of Rs. 52,303 against a deficit of Rs. 13,504 in the previous period. This was due mainly to the competition of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway already referred to.

14. On the Midnapore Canal there was a great reduction in the working expenses during the period under review. This was due partly to the absence of high floods in any of the rivers crossed by the canal, and partly to the withdrawal of the daily mail steamer service from 1st January 1901, owing to the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway. With the cessation of the steamer service it was no longer necessary to dredge the entrance channels to the locks, or torevet the canal banks, in order to protect them from the wash caused by the steamers.

There was some improvement in the collection of water-rates, the average having increased to Rs. 1,23,812 against the average of Rs. 1,09,360 in the previous period. The navigation receipts, however, showed a considerable falling off, the average for the triennial period under review being Rs. 92,451 against Rs. 1,20,014 and Rs. 1,31,468, the averages for the two previous periods. The cause of the great decrease has already been explained. The average net revenue for the period ending March 1902 was Rs. 17,465 in excess of that for the preceding period, and was in great measure due to the abolition of the steamer service whereby great savings were effected in the maintenance of the canal. The capital outlay incurred was Rs. 9,223, of which Rs. 8,000 were expended on the purchase of an office and residence for the Executive Engineer, Coasse Division, and Rs. 1,223 on the construction of permanent outlets to improve the water distribution.

15. The area irrigated, which was mostly under kharif, increased from an average of 73,710 acres in the three years ending March 1896 to an average of 78,190 acres in the triennial period under review. The rabi irrigation is very small. The area under long-term leases in 1901-1902 was 81,784 acres. This exceeded the maximum area of 75,000 acres as laid down in the revised water-rate rules for the Midnapore Canal.

16. The number of certificates issued during the triennial period shows a marked improvement compared with the number issued during 1898-1899.

17. The traffic on the Hijli Tidal Canal suffered considerably owing to the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway. The average receipts from navigation decreased from Rs. 81,675 during the triennial period ending March 1899 to Rs. 47,725 during the period under review, the result being a reduction in the average net revenue from Rs. 42,358 to Rs. 13,773. There was a slight improvement in the working expenses.

18. On the Sone Canals Rs. 24,070 were spent on works chargeable to the Capital Account, but the net outlay shown in the accounts, owing to sales of plant, was a minus figure [Rs. (—) 18,833].

19. The receipts from all sources averaged Rs. 11,12,278 against Rs. 11,28,616, the average for the previous period. The decrease was mainly under navigation receipts, which fell from Rs. 87,999, the average for the triennial period ending March 1899, to Rs. 48,832, the average for the period under review. The decrease was mainly due to the opening and competition of the Mozulserai-Gaya Railway. The receipts from water-rates increased from Rs. 10,09,662, the average for the triennial period ending March 1899, to Rs. 10,26,459, the average for the period ending March 1902.

There was a slight improvement in the miscellaneous revenue.

20. The rainfall of the year 1899-1900, though above the average, on the whole was deficient and unseasonable during the kharif season. In the early part of October, during the hathiya, there was no rain, and none fell till the end of the month. In the rabi season the rainfall in January was very beneficial to the crop. The rainfall of the year 1900-1901, though below the average and much less than that in the previous year, was heavier during both the kharif and rabi seasons. The year 1901-1902 was one of very scant rainfall—in fact the lowest on record since 1877-1878. It was deficient in the kharif season, and consequently there was a brisk demand for canal water during the rice transplanting season and the hathiya as well. Very little rain fell during the rabi season, the result being that a much larger area was leased than is ordinarily the case.

21. The area irrigated during the year 1901-1902, viz., 557,494 acres was the maximum on record. It exceeded the previous maximum of 1896-1897 by 2,338 acres. The average area irrigated was 481,333 acres against 476,466 acres in the previous period. The increase took place mainly under kharif, while there was a decrease under rabi and hot-weather irrigation. Compared with the average for the period ending March 1896, the average for the period under review was better by 121,622 acres, a result which shows that the people do appreciate the benefits of canal irrigation. This is also proved by the fact that the area under long term leases has gradually increased, the average for the triennial period under review being 313,011 acres against 297,544 and 271,552 acres for the periods ending March 1899 and March 1896, respectively.

22. The working expenses averaged Rs. 6,04,804 or Rs. 3,146 less compared with the average of the previous period.* The net result of the working of the triennial period under review was a profit of Rs. 5,07,474, which is equivalent to a percentage of 1.89 on the capital outlay.

23. The capital outlay (direct and indirect charges) on canals classed a Minor Works and Navigation was Rs. 2,86,724 during the period under review and Rs. 1,27,48,403* up to the end of this period. The average receipts and working expenses amounted to Rs. 6,05,205 and Rs. 4,98,763 respectively, the net revenue being Rs. 1,06,442 against Rs. 1,21,913, the average for the period ending March 1899.

The financial results of each of the canals during the triennial period and the capital expenditure to date are exhibited in the following table:—

* Includes the amount expended on the Tirhut and Damodar Projects.

24. The Calcutta and Eastern Canals are a series of navigable channels, partly natural and partly artificial, connecting Calcutta with the Eastern Districts of Bengal. The average receipts and working expenses amounted to Rs. 4,23,132 and Rs. 2,66,435, respectively, the result being a profit of Rs. 1,56,697 against Rs. 1,87,527 in the previous triennial period. The decrease was due to a falling off in the navigation receipts during the two years, 1900-1901 and 1901-1902. The average number of boats using the canals during the triennial period under review was 125,008 against 123,584 in the preceding period.

25. In order to provide a shorter and easier route for steamers during the rainy season, certain improvements of the Madaripore bhil route between the rivers Kumar and Madhumati from Khulna to Madaripore in the district of Faridpur were undertaken during the latter end of the year 1899-1900. The capital expenditure during the years 1900-1901 and 1901-1902 was solely incurred on the improvement of this route. Three estimates for the project have been sanctioned to date. The first estimate was for a channel about 22 miles in length to connect the Kumar and Madhumati rivers. This has shortened the distance between Khulna and Madaripore by 89 miles. The second estimate was for widening the route, and the third for deepening it by two feet throughout, for the purpose of allowing steamers and flats drawing six feet of water to use the route during the jute season only between August and September. Works in connection with the first estimate have been completed; those for widening and deepening the route are in progress. The question of still further improving the channel so as to make it navigable throughout the year is under consideration.

26. The Orissa Coast Canal is a continuation of the Hijili Tidal Canal and is for navigation purposes only. The average receipts for the triennial period under review amounted to Rs. 48,896 against Rs. 81,562 in the preceding period. This great falling off is mainly due to (1) the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway to which most of the rice and other goods traffic have been diverted owing to the very low rates charged by the Railway, and (2) the consequent withdrawal by the steamer companies of their steamers since February 1900. The working expenses, however, were much reduced during the last two years, and the average for the triennial period under review showed a decrease of Rs. 9,674 compared with the average for the preceding period. The financial results are far from satisfactory, the average net revenue being a deficit of Rs. 18,469 against a profit of Rs. 4,523 in the preceding triennial period.

27. The Saran Canals practically remained closed during the past three years. They were opened for a short time only during the khari and rabi seasons of the years 1900-1901 and 1901-1902 owing to the great demand for water caused by the scanty rainfall in the district commanded by them. The water was given free of charge at the request of the Collector and under the sanction of Government.

28. The work in the Nadia Rivers consists of the improvement and maintenance of the main offshoots from the Ganges, viz., the Bhagirathi, Bhairub, Jalangi, and Mathabhanga rivers. These rivers have been steadily losing their position as a great trade route to Calcutta, and with the prospect of increased railway competition it is probable that they will still further decline in importance. It is intended to improve the head of the Bhagirathi by means of a powerful suction dredger with the object of rendering the river navigable for a longer time during the cold-weather months, but, until the experiment is made, it would be futile to attempt to predict what the result will be. The receipts averaged Rs. 99,263 during the triennial period under review against Rs. 90,644 in the preceding period. Compared with the average for the period ending March 1896 the receipts show a falling off of Rs. 45,069. The average working expenses for the two periods were Rs. 1,17,345 and Rs. 1,13,033 respectively, so that the net revenue was a deficit of Rs. 18,082 for the period ending March 1902 compared with a deficit of Rs. 22,389 in the preceding period. For the triennial period ending March 1893 the average profit was Rs. 68,432. This steady decline in revenue is due to the deterioration of the rivers and also to the competition of the railways.

29. The Gaighata and Buxi Khal was maintained during the triennial period at an average cost of Rs. 235. The lease of the right to collect tolls expired at the close of the year 1900-1901. It was renewed for another five years on the original term, viz., Rs. 4,500 per annum.

30. The Eden Canal was worked during the triennial period at a smaller loss than usual. The average receipts were Rs. 27,653 against Rs. 33,698 in the preceding triennial period. The working expenses amounted to Rs. 38,256 against Rs. 71,624, the net result being a reduction in the average deficit from Rs. 37,926 to Rs. 10,603, which was entirely due to the fact that there was no expenditure on original works.

The area irrigated during the triennial period averaged 27,494 acres against 25,179 acres, the average of the preceding period.

31. The average area irrigated from the Madhuban Canal was 3,128 acres against 5,480 acres in the previous period. The average outlay incurred for maintaining the canal was Rs. 5,805 against Rs. 7,277 in the previous period. No charge is made for water given for irrigation from the canal.

32. An abstract of the result of the experiments made on "average" rice crops in the irrigated and unirrigated lands and the value of the outturn per acre during the triennial period under review is given below:—

* Rice = ¼rds of paddy.

• In 1901-1902 the rainfall in the month of October was scanty, so that where canal irrigation was not available the rice crop was below an average crop. If the differences in value for that year are compared, it is seen that the increased value of the outturn of crops due to irrigation was Rs. 10 from the Orissa Canals, Rs. 15 from the Sone Canals, Rs. 13 from the Midnapore Canal and Rs. 23 from the Eden Canal. The great difference of value on the Eden Canal is due to the high price obtained for straw in the Hooghly district.

33. The Irrigation Department of this Province was in charge of Mr. R. B. Buckley, C.S.I., Chief Engineer, during the triennial period under review. He has since retired from the Public Works Department having served in it for 32 years. The Lieutenant-Governor has recorded his appreciation of the work done by Mr. Buckley in the Calcutta Gazette of the 5th March 1902.

The Superintending Engineers, Mr. Inglis, Mr. Loes, Mr. Toogood and Mr. Butler were in charge of the four Irrigation Circles. The Lieutenant-Governor acknowledges the efficiency of their services. The large reduction in the expenditure on repairs during the last three years in the Midnapore Canal is due to the able management of Mr. C. A. White, Executive Engineer.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution and of the Chief Engineer's note be submitted to the Government of India, in the Public Works Department, and published in the Calcutta Gazette; also that it be circulated to other Governments and to all Departments and officers of this Government as usual.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

D. B. HORN,

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Government of Bengal.

IRRIGATION DEPARTMENT.

REVENUE REPORT.

Note by D. B. Horn Esqr., Chief Engineer, on the Canal Revenue Reports of Bengal for the triennial period ending 31st March 1902.

THIS is the first triennial revenue report prepared in accordance with the orders of the Government of India, conveyed in their Resolution No. 670C.W.I., dated the 6th June 1901. The tables introduced by the Chief Engineer for the preparation of the report were approved by the Government of India in their letter No. 1136C.W.I., dated the 2nd October 1901.

Previous to the year 1899-1900 two annual reports were prepared in the Irrigation Department—one being the Irrigation Chapter of the Administration Report and the other the Canal Revenue Report. With a view to reducing the number and bulk of the Revenue Reports on Irrigation Works, and facilitating their earlier submission, the Inspector General of Irrigation in a note, dated the 18th June 1900, recommended—

- (1) that the Annual Revenue Report should consist of a brief administration report, together with the statistical statements of irrigation works prescribed by the Secretary of State, and the administrative accounts of irrigation works,
- (2) that other statistical information relating to the working of the canals, of which it may be important to maintain a permanent and continuous record, should be embodied in a triennial report, in which the results attained in successive periods on the different systems may be brought into effective comparison.

These recommendations were accepted by the Government of India, and only one annual report is being issued since 1899-1900 in place of two annual reports.

2. The canals in Bengal are for irrigation and navigation purposes and they are divided into two classes, viz:—Major Irrigation Works, and Minor Works and Navigation.

The Major Irrigation Works are—

The Orissa canals.
 „ Midnapore canal.
 „ Hijili Tidal canal.

The Sone canals.
 „ Tribeni canal.
 „ Dhaka canal.

and the Minor Works and Navigation are—

The Calcutta and Eastern canals.
 „ Orissa Coast canal.
 „ Saran canals.
 „ Nadia rivers.
 „ Gaighatta and Buxi khals.

The Eden canal.
 „ Madhuban canal.
 „ Tirhut project.
 „ Damodar project.

The Orissa, Midnapore and Sone canals are both for irrigation and navigation, while the Hijili Tidal canal is for navigation only.

The Tribeni and Dhaka canals are for irrigation only. They were sanctioned in the year 1900-01 and are now under construction. Under Minor Works, the Calcutta and Eastern canals, Orissa Coast canal, Nadia river, and Gaighatta and Buxi khal are for navigation only, and the Saran canals, Eden Canal and Madhuban canal are for irrigation. The Tirhut project was designed for irrigation and the Damodar project for navigation. After some expenditure had been incurred, mostly on preliminary operations, it was considered advisable by Government to close the construction estimates of both projects.

The work on the Tirhut project has, therefore, been kept in abeyance since 1877-78, and that on the Damodar project was abandoned in 1871-72.

3. The Capital Account and financial results of the canals classed as Major Irrigation Works in operation up to end of the year 1901-1902 are shown in the following statements:—

The construction estimate of these canals is closed. The outlay during the triennial period under review, chargeable to the open Capital Account under the head 43—Minor Works and Navigation Provincial, was incurred mainly on the construction of permanent outlets, minor distributaries and drainage works. On the construction of the Dudhai Canal in the Cuttack District, an estimate for which amounting to Rs. 81,797 was sanctioned by the Government of India in October 1901 chargeable under the same head, Rs. 16,392 were expended during the year 1901-1902. The work is in progress.

There was no change in the lengths of the main and branch canals during the triennial period. In distributaries there was an increase of 31½ miles, owing to the construction of several minor channels. The increased length will supply water to lands not previously leased.

The permanent outlets increased from 559 to 2,723 and the temporary outlets decreased from 5,601 to 4,747. The drainage channels increased by 11 miles. In the area under command an addition of 914 acres was made in the year 1900-1901.

There was a considerable decrease in navigation receipts owing mainly to the opening of the Beng Nagpur Railway and the consequent withdrawal of the Government transport service. The working expenses, however, showed a considerable falling off during the triennial period compared with the previous periods ending March 1896 and 1899. The decrease was mainly due to the absence of high floods in the rivers.

The rainfall during the year 1901-1902 was considerably less than that of the previous year and the average of 18 years. It was, however, well distributed in the Cuttack District but not so in the Balasore District, which led to the wholesale renewal of leases of the large area which lapsed on the 31st March 1901 on the High Level Canal, Range III. The average rainfall recorded at nine stations in the Central Provinces, from which area of country the Mahanadi river derives the greater part of its supply, was 41·65 inches in 1901-1902, 68·08 inches in 1900-1901, and 37·66 inches in 1899-1900.

The area under long term lease practically remained stationary during the triennial period. This area was however, considerably more than the averages of the triennial periods ending March 1896 and 1899. In 1901-02, 343 acres of kharif were irrigated in an unauthorized manner, and the amount Rs. 816 assessed for it was realized in full. There was no sale of water by volume for irrigation purposes during the period under review.

In the Mahanadi Division nearly one-half of the lapsed leases has not been renewed. The greater portion of this area is under the new distributaries of the Taldunda and Machgong Canals. The land being low canal water is not required except in a year of drought. There was rain in the critical time in October, and no fresh lease was applied for. In the Brahmini-Byturni and Akhoyapada-Jajpur Divisions much larger areas than those lapsed were secured.

A "good" crop is one decidedly above the ordinary crop in the village in which the experiment is taken.
 An "average" crop is one considered a fair average of the whole crop in the village in which the experiment is taken.

The apparent falling off in the current demand during the year 1901-02 is attributable to the fact that some provisional leases, the assessment for which amounted to Rs. 14,943 were not completed during the year. It also excludes Rs. 13,142, for which leases were received by the Deputy Collector between the 26th and 31st March, so that receipts could not be written up and issued before the end of the year. Including these two amounts the assessment of the year amounted to Rs. 2,73,319. The total demand brought to account was collected with the exception of Rs. 6,141, for which leases were received by the Deputy Collector towards the close of March. The average collections during the triennial period under review were Rs. 13,351 less than the realization in the preceding period and Rs. 55,365 more than was realized during the period ending March 1896. The decrease in the number of certificates issued is satisfactory. Of the 305 certificates issued during the year 1901-02, 297 were satisfied, one was struck off and 7 were pending at the end of the year. The amount involved was Rs. 3,669 or on an average of Rs. 12 per certificate.

The triennial average of the establishment under the Deputy Collector is less than that of the two preceding periods, but some increase took place during the year 1901-1902 in the item "Temporary establishment," due to the employment of extra men for the completion of new and the renewal of old leases.

(a) Including tollage on Government traffic.

(b) Tollage on private traffic only.

In both cases the Transport Service and hire of boats have been excluded.

Compared with the period ending March 1899, the receipts for the period under review fell by 41·6 per cent. This decrease was due to (1) the abolition of the Transport Service; (2) the permanent opening of the Bengal Nagpur Railway in 1899-1900; and (3) less Railway materials having been sent by the Canals and less rice for export.

Water is now supplied to the Railway Station at Jenapur and receipts from this source are likely to increase.

There has been a satisfactory increase in the receipts from "plantations" due to renewal of lease and better administration.

The receipts from "Cost of process" diminished as there has been a satisfactory decrease in the number of certificates issued.

The floods in the rivers during the triennial period under review were moderate to low, except in 1900, when the Byturni river rose to within 0.60 of the recorded flood. In 1901 the Brahmini rose to 2.40 ft. below the highest recorded flood. Very little damage was done to Government works by the floods of the last three years.

There has been diminished expenditure under all heads, except "Extensions and Improvements, under which several minor distributaries, some permanent outlets, several quarters and office buildings for the revenue subordinates were constructed.

The decrease under the heads "Head Works and Main Canal" is due to less damage done by floods. The expenditure under "Distributaries" practically remained the same as in the two preceding periods, while under "Drainage and Protective Works" there was less expenditure than that incurred during the preceding triennial period. The transport service was abolished during 1900-1901, which accounts for the diminished expenditure under that head.

The first reach of the Taldanda Canal was heavily silted up, specially in the first three miles. Forty-six and-a-quarter lakhs of cubic feet of silt were removed, which accounts for the excess expenditure of the year.

The general average cost of maintenance was considerably less than in the preceding triennial period, a result which is due to the absence of any extraordinary floods in the rivers.

Mr. Barlow reports as follows on flushing and scouring Lock entrances of the Kendrapara Canal, &c., during the years 1899-1900, 1900-1901 and 1901-1902 :—

"The lock entrances at Jumbu and Alba silt up yearly towards the end of the rains, and except at high tide there is not enough water to pass steamers and boats. The silt deposited is cleared partly by hand at low tides and partly by tying up a deeply laden iron boat across the Channels and scouring under it by opening the lock valves, &c. This can only be done when there is a good head, viz., when the water in the river is low.

"To avoid silting in the first reach as far as practicable full supply is run down continuously during the rains, and any excess water not required for irrigation purposes, is run off through the escapes. This has been found to be most successful since the channel has been remodelled and only excavated to the minimum section required. After the floods are over and even after the irrigation is over, full supply is kept running whenever a bar of silt deposits near the head, and it has been found that this deposit is always moved down and generally more or less dispersed.

"As regards Alba—In 1899 scouring was done by boat—

During October 7 days.
" November 7 "
" December 4 "

"In 1900 scouring was done by boat—

During October 9 days.
" November 10 "
" December 3 "
" January 10 "	} This was necessitated owing to slight flood and fresh silt deposit.
" February 12 "

"In 1901 scouring was done by boat—

During October 4 days.
" November 6 "
" December 9 "
" January 2 "

"The result was slow but fairly sure, and each period of working improved the channel though sometimes silt would again deposit. As regards the Pattamoonchi Canal, scouring is not required at present as the channel is still in excess of requirements."

For the High Level Canal the first portion of the channel has been contracted in width by throwing excavated silt on the sides of the channel and turfing the same. The Executive Engineer remarks: "The contraction of the channel has been effective in reducing the sand deposit in the entrance channel, but at the same time it has been the cause of heading up the waterso much so that hardly 4 inches of head could be obtained in this irrigation season. Hence supply of more than 500c. ft., which is the requirement for irrigation, can hardly be got into the Canal for the purpose of escape in scouring the silt. The contracted state of the channel at the entrance has reduced silt deposit and will further reduce. Any silt brought in will be taken down the Cannal where the section is wide enough."

The following extracts are from a note by Mr. Arnott, Executive Engineer, on the Taldanda Canal. "In the irrigation season of 1900 there was great difficulty in getting sufficient water down the first reach of the canal owing to the silted up state of the first three miles. It was settled to lower the bed of the canal by 3 inches from Jobra to Biribati, and to reduce the width of the channel below the head sluice by depositing the excavated sand from the bed on to the sides until it was above full supply line. The canal was kept running full for the whole season and whether owing to the low state of the river or to the flush which a full supply gives, tending to send the silt down to the lower reaches, the first 3 miles of the Taldanda canal after the irrigation season of 1901 were remarkably free from silt. Mr. Arnott is of opinion that this was due to the flushing maintained during the season, and he considers that if his suggestions to cut down the weirs were adopted, a still further 'draw' to the water would be given."

The average expenditure incurred during the triennial period under review in clearing silt from the Taldanda Canal is more than three times as large as in the preceding period, the reasons for which are explained above.

During 1900-1901, 41½ lakhs of silt were removed from the 1st reach of the Kendrapara Canal, which was choked with it. The sill of the first weir was lowered, so that full discharge can be passed through the reach with less than full depth of water in the canal.

Very little silt is cleared from the other canals, and no special remarks are called for in respect to them. The general average expenditure for the period under review was Rs. 4,000 in excess of the previous one.

Under the head 'dredging' the expenditure on the Taldanda Canal was practically the same as in the previous three years, while there was a satisfactory decrease under all other canals.

The construction estimate of this canal was closed on 31st March 1899. The sum of Rs. 8,000 spent in 1899-1900 represents half cost of the purchase of the Executive Engineer's office and residence at Midnapore. The expenditure incurred during the year 1901-1902 was on account of constructing permanent outlets to improve the water distribution.

There was no change in the lengths of navigable channels and distributaries during the triennial period. There was an increase of 0.37 miles in the length of village channels owing to the construction of Madhpur village channel. The number of permanent, as compared with the number of temporary outlets, is still very small, but it has not been considered desirable or necessary to incur the great expense of making all the outlets permanent, and it was decided to take in hand only the more important ones at the heads of distributaries. The construction of 48 of these outlets at an estimated cost of Rs. 5,682 was begun in 1901-1902, and the work is still in progress. On the whole, the canal may be considered to be fairly well equipped for the distribution of water.

The reduction in the average receipts for the triennial period under review compared with those for the two previous periods is mainly due to the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway which has tapped the canal traffic and caused the withdrawal of the Steamer Service by the Calcutta Steam Navigation Company. There was however a considerable falling off in the working expenses. The reduction has been mainly effected under the head Maintenance and Repairs, as owing to the cessation of the Steamer Services no extensive silt clearance and revetting of canal banks, &c., were required. In consequence of the great reduction effected in the working expenses the net revenue increased from (—) Rs. 43,730 in 1899-1900 and Rs. 60,971 in 1900-1901 to Rs. 69,069 in 1901-1902 notwithstanding the great decrease in navigation receipts. The result is highly satisfactory.

During each of the past three years the rainfall in the Kharif season was well up to or above the normal. In October 1900-1901 and 1901-1902 there was a marked deficiency which created a strong demand for Canal water.

Nearly the whole of the irrigation during the year 1901-02 was carried out under the system of long-term leases. The area irrigated exceeded the limit which was formerly laid down as the maximum for which long leases should be granted. The area under season leases was very small.

The areas of new leases entered into during the year 1900-1901 and 1901-1902 exceeded those of the lapsed leases, and this circumstance may be accepted as evidence of the popularity of canal water.

The Superintending Engineer writes : " The duty of water on a canal which for the most part merely supplements the rainfall cannot be very accurately gauged, and the figures given have not much value. Mr. White, in replying to questions put by the Irrigation Commission, gives some interesting information regarding the duty during months of greatest pressure. The instances which he records give duties varying from 120 to 220 acres, and he considers that a duty of 160 acres represents the average during times of pressure."

The high value of the outturn in 1901-1902, as compared with that in the two previous years, was due to the high price of rice in 1901-1902.

The Superintending Engineer writes :—

Item 1.—The opening balance for the triennial period ending March 1902, was less than that of the first and second. This was due to the Deputy Collector being vested with the powers of Certificate Collector. The rate-payers have learnt by experience that the non-payment of their dues within the prescribed time is followed by the prompt filing of certificates against them, and the issue of processes for distraint, and that this puts them to trouble and expense.

Item 2.—The increase was due to a larger area irrigated during the triennial period ending 31st March 1902.

Item 4.—The average remission granted during the triennial period ending March 1902 was less than that of the first and second. This was due to correct assessment having been made after test and re-test of the maps of the villages under lease.

Item 14.—The investment of certificate power to the Deputy Collector in charge of the Canal Revenue Division, Midnapore, has been followed by a gradual reduction in the number of certificates.

The Superintending Engineer states :—

“The increase in the cost of establishment under Engineers during the triennial period under review (which includes patrols only) is due to an increase in their number from 16 to 24. Their wages have also had to be raised from Rs. 6 to Rs. 7 and Rs. 8. The additional outlay has resulted in greater efficiency.

The falling off in navigation receipts during the triennial period under review is mainly due to the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway which has monopolized the transport of timber. The passenger traffic has also considerably decreased.

The revenue during the year 1901-1902 was much greater than that for the two preceding years. This was due to the increase in the sale proceeds of the Koyalighats which rose from Rs. 583 in 1900-1901 to Rs. 4,698 in 1901-1902.

There was a very satisfactory reduction in the maintenance charges per mile of both Main Canal and Distributaries. The rate for the Main Canal was brought down from Rs. 2,416 in 1899-1900 to Rs. 1,094 in 1901-1902, and that for the distributaries from Rs. 109 to Rs. 31; the rates are probably as low as can be expected in the future.

There was great reduction in the quantity of silt dredged during the triennial period under review as, on account of the discontinuance of the mail steamer service, the tidal entrances had not to be dredged as low as before. The tidal reach between Kultapara and Kantapookur was closed for silt clearance in 1899-1900, which explain the large expenditure incurred during that year in silt clearance.

The receipts have decreased considerably, owing to the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway. The working expenses, however, show a gradual reduction from Rs. 45,061 in 1899-1900, to Rs. 29,955, in 1901-1902. On account of the reduction effected in the working expenses the net revenue has increased from Rs. 8,076 in 1899-1900 and Rs. 15,272 in 1900-1901 to Rs. 17,970 in 1901-1902.

The floods during the year 1901-1902 were higher than those of the previous two years, but they did no damage to the canal. The heavy local rain in July and August of the year 1900-1901, however, flooded considerable tracts of low-lying rice lands, but good crops were eventually secured, as the lands were drained in time to allow of new seedlings being planted.

There was considerable decrease in maintenance and repairs of the main canal during 1901-1902, compared with the two previous years and averages of the two triennial periods ending March 1896 and 1899. The principal item of expenditure was silt clearance by dredging. The expenditure on the working of steamers during 1900-1901 was, however, slightly in excess of the year 1900-1901.

* Please see Orissa Coast Canal statement.

During the triennial period under review, two dredgers, viz., Marchant No. III and Bruce No. II, were at work in Ranges I and II of the Canal. The average quantity dredged during the period was 1,129,914 c. ft., at a cost of Rs. 8,220, as compared with 628,317 c. ft. dredged during the period ending March 1899, at a cost of Rs. 5,871. The increased expenditure was mainly due to the silt-clearance of Range I parallel to the supply channel, and of the supply channel itself at Gewankhali, where a large accumulation of silt had taken place.

The construction estimate of these canals is closed. During the triennial period under review a sum of Rs. 21,070 for works only was spent as chargeable to the open Capital account under 43—Minor works and navigation. The following were the principal works constructed: A gangway to the Dohri headsluices for working the kurries and shutters; alterations to the Kao syphon to enable it to be utilised as an escape during the khurif season; an additional escape to the Bhojpur distributary, an escape channel to the Katherain distributary and a number of permanent outlets for village channels.

There were no changes in the lengths of the main and branch Canals. In distributaries there was a decrease of 12 miles due to the abandonment of a portion of the Emamganj distributary taking off the Patna Canal. The mileage of village channels increased from 2,981 miles 3,001 feet to 3,114 miles and 4,673 feet at the end of March 1902. The number of permanent outlets increased from 3,596 to 4,206, while the temporary outlets decreased from 2,095 to 1,880. The gross area under command remained the same.

In the following supplementary tables are given the details of the lengths, &c. of the channels by Divisions at the close of the triennial period under review:—

The receipts from water-rates and miscellaneous revenue show a steady increase during the period under review, whereas navigation receipts have decreased by almost fifty per cent. owing to the opening of the Mogulsarai-Gaya Railway. The average cost of maintaining the canals has remained almost stationary, so that the net financial result is slightly lower than that of the previous triennial period.

In the year 1899-1900 the rainfall of the year although above the average, was deficient and unseasonable during the kharif season. In June and July there was heavy rainfall. In August the season for the transplantation of rice, the rainfall decreased and was irregularly distributed. In September the falls were very light, and the rain practically ceased about the middle of the month. In the early part of October during the hathiya there was no rain, and none fell till almost the end of the month. In the rabi season the rainfall in January was very beneficial to the crop.

In the year 1900-1901 the rainfall, though below the average and much less than that of the previous year, was heavier during both the kharif and rabi seasons. In August during the transplanting period for rice it was deficient and there was, consequently, a great demand for canal water. The rainfall during the hathiya was heavy. The excessive fall during the rabi season did much damage to the crop.

The year 1901-1902 was one of very scant rainfall—in fact the lowest on record since 1877-78. Owing to deficiency of rainfall in the kharif season, there was a brisk demand for canal water during the rice transplanting season and also in the hathiya. Very little rain fell during the rabi season, with the result that a very much large area was irrigated than usual.

The following supplementary table shows the rainfall during the “Hathia Nachatra,” and for the succeeding ten days since 1888; it is based on the 22 stations mentioned in subsidiary form IV E(a):—

The average area irrigated during the period under review was greater than that of the two preceding periods. There has been a steady increase of rice-irrigation: the area under rabi irrigation is dependent entirely on the amount of rainfall after the 25th September.

The former rate for long leases was Rs. 2 per acre. The existing rate, which was introduced from 1st April 1897 and which will remain in force up to the end of March 1903, is Rs. 2-8 per acre.

To show the popularity of these long leases, and the eagerness of the people for canal irrigation, the areas applied for and refused in each Division during the triennial period under review are entered in the following table :—

On this question of the renewal of leases the Executive Engineer, Arrah Divison, writes as follows:—"The canals are now practically leased up to their limit, and any new lease can only be taken if it is very favourably situated. Additions are possible, however, by reducing the amount of water given to the lease by taking a higher duty or adding to existing blocks without increasing the size of the outlet, and it is chiefly by these means that the increase in the area has been attained, and in a few years will be the only way of extending the area."

Leases cancelled during the triennial period are noted in the following statement:—

The favourable Hathia rain in 1900 caused a reduction in that year. The increase in the other two years was due to the fact that there was no rain during the Hathia. The Executive Engineer, Arrah Division, notes:—

“If unauthorized irrigation is to be stopped at all, it can only be done by imposing such a rate as will make the cultivator understand that it will be no benefit to him to take water without authority, even though by so doing he may save his crop and get a fair outturn.”

The Superintending Engineer agrees with this, and recommends that the rate should be deterrent. The Chief Engineer, however, does not share this opinion. The average area irrigated but not assessed during the past three years was 4,418 acres. This is not a large area when it is remembered how many long leases there are and the facilities which the villagers have of passing water on to the unleased fields. There can be only one solution of this difficulty and that is for the Canal Officers to see that leases are only granted where the boundaries are suitable and that the outlets are carefully proportioned to the areas leased.

59. The assessments under wastage of water were:—

The great demand for water in 1901-02 was owing to the failure of the hathia rain. Fortunately the supply in the river was ample, otherwise so large an area could not have been irrigated—

The Superintending Engineer writes:—

"The kharif duty in the last two triennial periods is less than that in the preceding three years. This is due to the introduction of the flushing system. It is calculated on the gross discharge entering the Canals and is of no practical value, as discharges in excess of requirements are run as frequently as the state of the river permits for flushing out the silt deposited at the head of the Canals.

"On the assumption that the whole kharif area was irrigated during the ten days of maximum demand, or 'period of pressure,' generally between the 5th and 14th October, the duty during the period under review is given in the statement following:—

CANAL SYSTEM.	1899-1900.			1900-1901.			1901-1902.
	Area irrigated Kharif.	Average discharge from 5th to 14th October 1899.	Duty per cubic foot of discharge.	Area irrigated Kharif.	Average discharge from 18th to 27th October 1900. "It has been the practice for the last five years to commence increasing the Canal discharges about the beginning of October, so as to have everything in order and a full supply ready to meet a heavy 'hathiya' demand, should rain fail during that period. The higher duty obtained in 1899-1900, was due to the cultivators being compelled, owing to the short supply in river, to economise water as much as possible.

"In the early part of October 1901 owing to high floods in the river the Canals had to be closed. Consequently in 1900-1901 the period of pressure has been taken between the 18th and 27th of that month.

"The duty during the rabi season increases with the increase of area irrigated. It is often vitiated by flushes being run in January and February, when the river is in flood, with a view to killing weeds in the Canals.

"The Executive Engineer of the Arrah Division repeats the table which has now been given for some years, showing the aggregate depth of water placed at the rice-fields, on the hypothesis that the entire 'utilised' discharge of the Canal reached the fields. The figures take cognizance of the months July to October inclusive, thus:—

The Superintending Engineer remarks:—

"The increase in the number of complaints pending at the end of the triennial period is said to be due to the larger area of rabi irrigated in 1901-1902 and the extra work thrown on the staff whereby they could not investigate all the complaints before the close of the year, the areas over which the complaints were distributed being very large."

TABLE XV.—CLASSIFICATION OF COMPLAINTS.

	Total ...	1,688	2,381	4,069	1,968	2,232	4,200	1,874	2,608	4,572

Out of this large number of complaints only 25 were appealed to the Collector during the period under review, of which three were allowed and the rest dismissed.

65. The statement below gives details of "certificate cases" for the three years under review:—

YEAR.	Cases instituted including those pending from previous year.		Disposed of during the year.		Pending at close of the year.
	Number.	Amount	Number.	Amount.	Number.	Amount.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7

1901-1902 ...	220	3,210	219	3,197	1	13

The gradual reduction in the number of cases, considering the increase of the demand, is a most satisfactory feature as showing the greater readiness of the cultivators to pay without enforcement.

Only one "Magisterial case" was instituted during the triennial period and it was discharged.

There has been a considerable falling off in the receipts from navigation owing to the opening and competition of the Mogul-Serai-Gaya Railway.

The Steamer service on the Sone Canals continued to be worked by Messrs. Radford and Company.

The following Table shows the extent of the steamer-traffic worked by them for the years 1901-1902 and 1898-1899:—

The falling off in the passenger traffic was considerable, so much so that on the Buxar Canal the Company had to discontinue the service from January 1901.

On a representation of the Company that the returns from the Patna and Arrah Canals were not sufficiently remunerative, a concession in the matter of tollage was made to them.

The R. L. of the crest of the Sone weir is 334.00 and the floors of the under sluices and head-sluices 326.00.

The floods of the year 1899-1900 were very low, owing to the scant rainfall in the Sone basin. They were on a par with those of 1880, though not so low as those of 1883. The Superintending Engineer writes:—

"The floods in the Sone in 1900-1901 were more continuous and of longer duration than in the preceding three or four years. The first flood occurred on the 15th June.* * * The next high flood was not until the 14th July.* *"

"In 1901-1902 the advent of the first of the Sone floods occurred rather late. It was not until the 12th July that 30 of the under-sluice shutters fell. * * This flood lasted but 6 days. The succeeding floods occurred on the 25th July, 16th and 24th August, the latter continuing up to 13th September, the maximum level, R. L. 341.40, on the Dehri gauge being reached on the 4th September. This is the highest recorded flood since 7th July 1876, when the Dehri gauge registered 342.10. * * * The only damage done to the Head-works by this extraordinary high flood was a small pooling below the centre sluices of the weir, and the packing in front being displaced and thrown on the apron. In its course lower down the flood breached the Koelwar Distributary and the Arrah Canal in the 56th and 57th miles on the left bank of the river. On the right bank the Patna Canal, 41st mile, was cut by villagers to drain off impounded water, and the Manair Distributary breached between 20th mile and end on the right bank. The level reached by the flood at Lock XI of the Arrah Canal, viz., R. L. 192.60, was 1.16 feet higher than the previously recorded maximum, which occurred in 1888. The River Gauges at Buxar rose higher in this year than in the two preceding years, but at this station did not exceed the maximum. At Digha, however, the flood of 5th September reached R. L. 169.83, which is the highest ever observed, the former maximum being R. L. 169.58 on 14th August 1879."

The expenditure under "Extensions and Improvements" was principally incurred in constructing regulators in distributaries; also a large number of permanent outlets, and several bridges, syphons and culverts connected with village channels.

The great reduction shown during the triennial periods ending March 1899 and 1902 over the triennial period ending March 1896 is due to the introduction of the flushing system.

The Superintending Engineer writes—

“The increases in the quantities cleared by hand in 1900-1901 were due to the silt removed during the closures of the Eastern Main series, portion of the Western Main Canal; below regulator in 6th mile and the Buxar Canal. Silt was excavated in the Eastern Main at the head-lock channel which silts very heavily, also at the bifurcation of the Patna Canal; in the Patna Canal above and below the locks; in the Western Main Canal in miles 13th to 15th below the off-take of the Buxar Canal, in the Buxar Canal above and below locks and Nokha Dock; in the distributaries of the Arrah and Buxar Divisions, where found necessary. These hand clearances, however, caused a reduction in the quantities dredged in these canals. Dredging, however, is necessary at bifurcation of canals and lock channels, which silt up in the flood season, to keep them open for navigation. In the 53rd and 54th miles of the Arrah Canal, where the high banks have a tendency to slip in, dredging had to be resorted to by working the English dredgers with shoots on to the bank, in the first 2 years of the period under review. As the level of the river Sone was able to be maintained at a sufficient height for the very small amount of traffic that now crosses it, less dredging has annually been necessary.”

The Capital cost of the dredging plant now on the Sone canals is given below :—

The reduction in the cost of weed clearing is thus explained by Superintending Engineer :—

"The expenditure incurred was only for clearing silt where the discharge observations are taken in the Main Western and Arrah Canals. The system of running larger discharges than what are actually necessary during the cold season and increasing the surface slope, and also taking advantage of any small flood that may occur in the river in January or February to let in a good supply of muddy water, has been most effective in keeping down the weeds."

The expenditure incurred during the year 1899-1900 was mainly for completing the works in connection with the canalization of the Bhangore khal. The outlay on the project up to the end of 1899-1900 amounted to Rs. 8,76,857 for works only. In order to provide a shorter and easier route for steamers during the rainy season, certain improvements of the Madaripur Bhil route between the rivers Kumar and Madhumati from Khulna to Madaripur in the district of Faridpur were undertaken during the latter end of the year 1899-1900. The expenditure during the years 1900-1901 and 1901-1902 was solely incurred on the improvement of the Madaripur Bhil route. Three estimates for the project have been sanctioned. The first amounting to Rs. 1,90,602 was for a channel about 22 miles in length to connect the Kumar and Madhumati rivers. This has shortened the distance between Khulna and Madaripur by 89 miles. The second is for widening the route. It amounts to Rs. 1,01,491. The third amounting to Rs. 2,25,000 is for deepening the route by two feet throughout. The works in connection with the second and third estimates, which were sanctioned in the latter part of the year 1901-1902 for the purpose of allowing steamers and flats drawing 6 feet of water to use the route during the jute season only between August and September, are in progress. The question of still further improving the channel so as to make it navigable throughout the year is under consideration.

Items 18, 19, 20 and 21 have been omitted, as the canals are for navigation only.

There was a gradual decrease in the navigation receipts during the two years 1900-1901 and 1901-1902. This was partly due to the fact that the rice crop in the Eastern Districts was below the average. The working expenses during the triennial period were practically normal. Owing to the decrease in the receipts the net revenue during the year 1901-1902 was Rs. 40,000 less than that of the previous year.

There were no high floods in the rivers during the triennial period under review. Owing to the unprecedented rainfall of September 1900 there were floods in the Lake Channel at Dhappa. The reading recorded was 9-65, the highest on record.

The bulk of the expenditure on maintenance and repairs was incurred in the Circular and new cut canals and Eastern Canals, the most important item being dredging. Other items, of repairs such as tow-path, rustic bridges, locks, sluices, channels, banks and buildings, were of an ordinary nature. In 1900-1901 a sum of Rs. 19,000 was expended on the re-building of the east abutment of the Tollygunge bridge over Tolly's Nala.

Owing to the canalization of the Bhangore khal the expenditure on silt clearance by hand has been greatly reduced.

The expenditure on silt clearance by dredging during the triennial period under review was normal. Constant dredging was necessary in the Circular Canal at Chitpur and in the Lake Channel below Dhappa to keep them open for traffic.

The expenditure on dredging shows a tendency to increase. This is due to the deterioration of the channel below the Dhappa lock which necessitate periodical dredging in order to keep it clear for boat traffic.

FOOT NOTE.—The canal being a navigable one, items 18, 19, 20 and 21 have been left blank.

The navigation receipts for 1901-1902 were the lowest since the Canal was opened. This great falling off is almost entirely due to the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway to which most of the rice and other goods traffic which hitherto were transported by country boats have been diverted. The working expenses, however, were much reduced during the last two years, and it is hoped that in normal years they may be still further reduced.

There was considerable falling off in all items of traffic during the triennial period under review. As already explained, the main cause of the decrease may be attributed to the diversion of nearly the whole of the canal traffic to the railway, and the withdrawal by the Steamer Companies of their steamers since February 1900.

There was considerable decrease in the cost of repairs and maintenance of the Main Canal during the years 1900-1901 and 1901-1902, compared with the year 1899-1900, and the averages of the two preceding triennial periods ending March 1896 and 1899.

* These items of expenditure are for repairs to the dredging plant, which worked both in the Orissa Coast and Hijili Tidal Canals.

The Balliaghye branch drain in Range III of the canal having silted up badly was closed for silt-clearance from Chowmuk to Balliaghye from the 15th February to the 16th June 1900. The main drain was also silt-cleared in 1901-1902.

Most of the dredging was done in Ranges III, IVB and V of the canal and in the Balliaghye drain and the Surpai cross bund.

The average cost of removing silt during the triennial period under review was higher than that of the previous period. This was due to the frequent breaking down of some of the dredgers.

The canals were closed in January 1898 and they have practically remained closed during the triennial period. They were opened for a short time only during the kharif and rabi seasons of the years 1900-1901 and 1901-1902, owing to the great demand for water caused by the scanty rainfall in the district. The water was given free of charge at the request of the Collector and under the sanction of Government.

The receipts which are almost entirely from tolls on boats have been steadily decreasing. This is due to the deterioration of the river channels, which are gradually silting up. A scheme for making the Bhagirathi navigable for steamers throughout the year, by the employment of powerful suction dredgers, is being matured. The working expenses have been much reduced during the year 1901-02.

GAIGHATA AND BUXI KHAL.

109. The Gaighata and Buxi khal is $7\frac{1}{2}$ miles in length. It was taken over by the Irrigation Department from the District Board, Howrah, on the 1st April 1894.

The financial results of the khal for the triennial period under review are given below :—

The right of collecting tolls on the khal had been leased for five years commencing from the year 1896-97, at an annual rental of Rs. 4,500. The lease having expired at the close of the year 1900-1901, it was renewed on the same terms for another five years.

The rainfall during the triennial period under review was considerably more than the average of the six years ending March 1899. The fall during 1901-1902 was however less than that of the two previous years and the average of the three years ending March 1902.

GENERAL RESULTS.

NET REVENUE.

132. The net results of the triennial period ending March 1902, compared with those of the two previous periods, are shown below:—

COLLECTION OF WATER-RATES.

133. The work done in the recovery of water-rates is shown in the following statement:—

CANALS.	Average outstanding for the triennial period ending March 1899.	Average of the demand for the triennial period ending March 1902.	Average of the amount collected or adjusted for the period ending March 1902.	Average of the outstanding balance for the period ending March 1902.

Total ...	12,281	14,18,020	14,15,269	2,751

The small outstanding balance is highly satisfactory, and is an index not only of the excellent administration of the collecting establishment, but also of the accuracy of the assessments made by the Canal officers.

134. In the following table a comparison is made between the approximate value of crops irrigated by Major Irrigation Works during the periods ending March 1899 and 1902:—

VALUE OF CROPS.

Total ...	739,620	2,83,36,242	761,478	2,73,22,163

The average value per acre of the various crops irrigated has decreased from Rs. 38·31 to Rs. 35·88.

135. The results of the working of the canals in Bengal for the period under review may be considered as fairly satisfactory.

The average area irrigated from the Orissa Canals during the period under review was slightly in excess of that irrigated during the preceding period; but there was a general decrease in the receipts. The average collections were Rs. 3,98,995, against Rs. 4,96,758, thereby showing a falling off of Rs. 97,793. The reduction was mostly under navigation, owing to the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway and the abolition of the Government transport service. It is, however, satisfactory to note that the working expenses were reduced from Rs. 5,10,292 to Rs. 4,51,297. The floods in the rivers were of ordinary character, and, as a result, very little damage was done to the canals.

The average net revenue from this canal was Rs. 17,465 in excess of that earned during the previous triennial period. This was due to the fact that the average working expenses were reduced by Rs. 40,670, owing in a great measure to the cessation of the Steamer Service, which rendered dredging in the entrance channels to the locks and revetting of the canal banks almost unnecessary.

There was a marked decrease in the navigation receipts from this canal. This was mainly due to the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway, which diverted most of the traffic.

The area irrigated during the year 1901-1902 was the highest on record, and the average for the period under review exceeded that for the preceding period by 4,867 acres. The average receipts from water-rates increased from Rs. 10,69,662 to Rs. 10,26,459, but the navigation receipts decreased from Rs. 87,999 to Rs. 48,533. There was no appreciable improvement in the working expenses.

The most disappointing feature in the working of these canals during the past three years is the very marked decrease of navigation receipts, due to the opening of the Bengal-Nagpur and the Mogal Sarai-Gaya Railways. This is clearly shown in the following statement:—

The most important work in progress is the improvement of the Madaripur Bhil route, which was taken up during the latter end of the year 1899-1900. There was a gradual decrease in the navigation receipts during the years 1900-1901 and 1901-1902, due partly to the general depression in trade and partly to the fact that the crops in the Eastern districts were below the average.

The Saran canals practically remained closed during the period under review, except for two short intervals during the years 1900-1901 and 1901-1902, when they were opened for the irrigation of the kharif and rabi crops, and water was given free of charge.

As in the case of the other navigable canals in Bengal, there was a considerable decrease in the navigation receipts of this canal, due mainly to the opening and competition of the Bengal-Nagpur Railway.

The receipts have been steadily decreasing owing to the deterioration of the rivers, which are gradually silting up.

There is nothing of importance to note under this canal.

There was a slight increase in the collection of water-rates and in the area irrigated. The average amount of expenditure during the period under review was Rs. 38,256, against Rs. 71,624 during the previous period. This was simply due to the fact that there was no expenditure on original works during the last three years.

136. The date fixed for the submission of the triennial Revenue reports to the office of the Chief Engineer was the 5th September 1902. The dates when the different reports were received are shown below:—

FINAL FORECAST OF THE INDIGO CROP OF
BENGAL, 1902.

THE following Note is published for general information.

W. C. MACPHERSON,

Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The 16th December 1902.

DEPARTMENT OF LAND RECORDS AND AGRI-CULTURE, BENGAL.

Final Forecast of the Indigo Crop of Bengal, 1902.

Character of the season.—In forecasting the indigo crop, it is only necessary to consider the character of the season in the districts of Saran, Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Monghyr, Bhagalpur, Purnea, Nadia and Murshidabad, which are the chief indigo-growing districts in the Province: The previous monsoon terminated very early and the winter rains failed; there was consequently serious lack of moisture in the early part of the season. There was practically no rain in February, but in March there was good rain everywhere. In Bihar, however, there were hailstorms and rain at the time of germination which rendered extensive re-sowing necessary. The rainfall in April was copious and general, except in Muzaffarpur and Darbhanga where it was slightly deficient. In May also there was good rain, except in Muzaffarpur and Monghyr, though the crop in the Bengal districts suffered to some extent from storms and heavy rain. In the following month the fall was deficient throughout the indigo area, especially in Saran, Champaran and Murshidabad. In July there was good rain almost throughout the indigo area, and in August also the fall, though slightly below the normal in many of the important indigo districts, was not insufficient for the requirements of this crop. The fall in September was general and very heavy, and indigo suffered from water-logging in Bengal, and from floods in Darbhanga and Muzaffarpur. October was unusually dry. The outturn is likely to be one of the worst on record.

Area sown.—The normal area at present under indigo in these Provinces is, according to the latest estimates made by District Officers, 412,400 acres, but this figure is too high, sufficient account not having been taken of the contraction of area under this crop, which has occurred during recent years. The area actually cultivated with indigo this year is estimated at 253,500 acres against 311,200 acres sown last year. The decrease is due to the present unfavourable prospects of the industry, owing to competition with synthetic indigo in the markets of Europe.

Character of the crop.—From Appendix I appended to this note, it will be seen that, except in Malda, District Officers everywhere expect an outturn below the normal. For the five districts of North Bihar, the outturn is estimated at 47 per cent. of a normal crop, while that for the remaining districts is estimated at 56 per cent. Of the nine important indigo districts enumerated above, the crop in four (Saran 32 per cent., Muzaffarpur 24 per cent., Nadia 25 per cent., and Murshidabad 12 per cent.) has been almost a complete failure. The outturn in Purnea, Monghyr and Bhagalpur varies between 70 and 76 per cent., while Darbhanga and Champaran forecast an outturn of 63 and 54 per cent., respectively. Since the issue of the preliminary forecast, the prospects of the crop have improved in three districts (Bhagalpur, Champaran and Monghyr), deteriorated in six (Nadia, Murshidabad, Purnea, Cuttack, Saran and Muzaffarpur), and are unchanged in ten. According to the estimates of the District Officers, the outturn for the Province as a whole will amount to 49 per cent. of an average crop. In my first forecast I anticipated a 50 per cent. crop for the whole Province, and I do not see any reason to change that estimate.

Gross outturn.—Assuming that the normal yield of indigo per acre in the nine Bihar districts is 20 lbs., and that of the Bengal districts 12 lbs., the total yield of indigo in the North Bihar districts, according to the district returns, will amount to 24,905 factory maunds, against 48,759 factory maunds of the past year, and that in the remaining area to 7,472 factory maunds as compared with 13,972 factory maunds of the preceding year. A factory maund is equal to about 75 lbs.

Messrs. Moran & Co., however, estimate the outturn of the North Bihar districts at 26,000 factory maunds which very closely approximates the above estimate of the district officers, and this estimate may be accepted. Messrs. Moran & Co.'s estimate for the remaining area is only four to five thousand maunds, but from this figure several districts in which indigo is grown on a small scale are omitted. I estimate the yield for Bengal at 7,500 factory maunds.

PROGRESS OF EDUCATION IN BENGAL FROM THE YEAR
1897-98 TO 1901-1902.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—EDUCATION.

Calcutta, the 17th December 1902.

RESOLUTION—No. 3875.

READ—

The Review of Education in Bengal from the year 1897-98 to 1901-1902 with which is incorporated the Annual Report for 1901-1902.

THE Report covers the period of five years from 1897-98 to 1901-1902 and follows the lines of the Third Quinquennial Review of Education in India written by Mr. J. S. Cotton in 1898.

It is submitted by Mr. A. Pedler, F.R.S., C.I.E., Director of Public Instruction, who was in charge of the Department for seven months of the year 1901-02, his place being filled, during two periods of deputation to the Educational Conference at Simla and to the University Commission, by Mr. J. S. Slater. The Report was due to Government on the 1st October, but a complete copy did not reach the Secretariat till the 10th November, the delay being due partly to unusual pressure of work in the Press and partly to unpunctual submission of the Report of the Inspector of European Schools.

2. The most prominent features in the history of education in Bengal during the quinquennium, as depicted in this Report, are the falling off in the number of primary schools and pupils; the development of secondary education; the lamentably small progress made in female education; the continued backwardness of the Muhammadan population as compared with the Hindus; the increasing literacy among converts to Christianity; the revision of the system of vernacular education which was sanctioned in this Government's Resolution of the 1st January 1901; the development of the scheme of training schools with the establishment of the Kurseong Victoria School; the development, especially in Calcutta, of the system of hostels or boarding-houses for students, and the re-examination from the bottom of principles and methods of education which was initiated with the Education Conference held at Simla in 1901 and with the labours of the University Commission which began in 1902. Some of these matters will be noticed in this Resolution.

3. The decrease in the number of primary schools and pupils, which greatly outnumbers the increase obtained in the secondary schools, has been more or less continuous since the year 1896-97. There is a decrease in the number of schools, though not in the number of pupils, reported in 1892-93. This decrease has been the subject of enquiry under the orders of Government. The Director considers that the loss is nominal rather than real, and that it is due for the most part to elimination of weak and ephemeral schools from the returns; but he also thinks that there has been some real decrease of schools and pupils in recent years, owing to financial pressure and in localities to agricultural distress. These conclusions appear to be correct. It is not credible that there has really been a decrease in the number of children under instruction in Bengal in recent years, and the census figures show that in 1901 among persons over 15 years of age, there were 146 literate males per thousand against 137 in 1891. It was the special wish of the late Sir John Woodburn that earnest attempts should be made to increase the number of primary schools in the villages and to give them stability, and with this object, when allotting to the District Boards, to be expended on primary education, the sum of four lakhs out of the grant of ten lakhs placed at his disposal by the Government of India at the beginning of this year, he insisted that the Boards should devote a portion of the funds placed at their disposal to increasing the number of pathshalas as well as to improving the pay of the teachers in the existing schools.

While the primary schools have decreased in number during the last ten years, the large increase in the number of secondary schools and pupils, the conversion of many middle vernacular schools into middle English schools, and the increase in the number of boys learning English, indicate, as the Director remarks, an increasing desire among the people for higher standards of education. It is to be regretted that the Director finds that the standard of teaching in high schools is not so good as formerly; and it is to be hoped that the reforms consequent on the introduction of the new scheme of vernacular education and on the enquiries of the University Commission will lead to improvements in such schools.

4. The system of education followed in vernacular schools and in the lower classes of English secondary schools was remodelled during the quinquennium in accordance with proposals submitted by a Committee of officers of the Education Department over which the Director, Mr. Pedler, presided; these proposals were approved in Government Resolution No. 1, dated 1st January 1901. In the words of the late Lieutenant-Governor, the changes introduced "aim at developing the minds of the boys more than practising and strengthening their memories." The new system is based on Kindergarten principles and on the policy of teaching by object-lessons, which is an extension of the Kindergarten principle. In connection with this scheme, the vernacular text-books in use in schools have been entirely revised.

Another important feature of the scheme is that Indian boys will in future not be allowed to commence to learn English before they are well grounded in their own vernacular. It has accordingly been decided that the child's mother-tongue shall be the medium of instruction up to Class V of high schools, which corresponds to Class I of middle schools and to Standard VI of the new scheme, and which is ordinarily reached when the child is about 13 years of age. The study of English as a subject is allowed and provided for from Standard III upwards, i.e., in Class VII B of high schools, and in Class IV of middle schools; this is the standard above the lower primary classes, and is reached by the average boy at ten years of age.

5. Comparing the figures of the past ten years with those of the period under review, the Director finds that the total number of girls under instruction has increased by 13 per cent.; but this increase was gained in the first five years, and there has actually been a decrease in the number of girls returned as under instruction in the last five years, which is no doubt connected with the disappearance from the returns of the weak and ephemeral primary schools. According to the last census, the total number of females in Bengal was 39,215,224. Out of this number, the number of literate females was 7 per thousand against 4 only in 1891. The progress in female education in this Province has therefore been slow, though in Calcutta there has been marked advance. The Director gives in paragraph 4 of his report the reasons stated below as accounting for this slow progress:—

"The chief causes for the slow progress of female education in this country are—(1) conservatism of a great portion of the people; (2) the fact that the education of their female children is a matter of great indifference to a large proportion of parents and guardians, as they usually do not take the same amount of care and interest in the education of their female wards as they do in that of boys; (3) the system of early marriage, which presents an almost insurmountable barrier to education beyond the Primary stages; (4) the want of educated female teachers; (5) the want of a system for educating zenana ladies; (6) the want of adequate State aid and aid from the other Public Funds."

The late Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal had the cause of female education much at heart. Considerable increase of public expenditure has been sanctioned and will be devoted to schools for girls and on Inspectresses of Schools, and the training of female teachers is being encouraged.

6. There was a slight increase in the number of Muhammadan pupils in colleges and secondary schools and madrasas, but the decrease in the number of Muhammadan boys returned as reading in primary schools was much larger. This decrease is no doubt due to the elimination of weak schools from the general returns which has been above noticed; but the backwardness of the Muhammadan population in availing themselves of education continues in spite of special encouragements held out to Muhammadan students by way of scholarships and special facilities offered to them for entrance into the public service, and until this backwardness is overcome it must continue to be a matter of solicitude to the Government and to the leaders of the Muhammadan community.

7. During the ten years ending with March 1902, the advance in the number of students in secondary schools and in colleges has been marked. The students in secondary schools increased from 197,285 to 244,992, while those in colleges numbered 10,463 in 1900-1901 as compared with 6,287 ten years previously. The current edition of the "Statesman's Year Book" gives the number of male students at the various universities and colleges in the United Kingdom as 32,278. Thus Bengal, with nearly twice the population of the United Kingdom, has only one-third of the number of male university students. A comparison of the respective numbers of female students reading in colleges who number only 77 in Bengal with the numbers of such students in the United Kingdom would indicate far greater backwardness.

There was a net increase during the quinquennium of six unaided colleges and a large increase in the number of students in Arts Colleges, especially in the Law classes. The number of candidates at all the University examinations increased. The number of candidates at the F. A. examination in ten years has exceeded the number who matriculated during the same period, the explanation being that many candidates appear more than once at this examination. The percentage of success at the Entrance and F. A. examinations fell off slightly during the quinquennium. The average of success at the B. A. examination has been lower during the last five years than in the preceding five years, and at the M. A. examination the percentage of passes has remained almost unchanged, owing, it is said, to a practical uniformity in the standard.

8. Technical education is imparted in the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, the Bihar School of Engineering, the Survey Schools at Dacca and Cuttack, and also in schools affiliated to the Civil Engineering College at Sibpur. There was a decrease during the quinquennium in the total number of pupils reading in the Survey Schools. The largest decrease took place in the Survey School at Dacca, owing, it is said, to the difficulty which the students experience in securing employment after passing the sub-overseer's examination. This matter will be separately considered in consultation with the Public Works Department of this Government. During the last quinquennium, the study of Science in Arts Colleges has advanced, and practical subjects of education have been introduced in high, middle, and primary schools. Drawing is now taught in almost all high schools, and Elementary Science subjects have been introduced in the curriculum of lower classes.

The Agricultural classes established in 1899 in the Civil Engineering College at Sibpur have been fairly successful. Ten out of twelve of the higher agricultural class and all the lower class students passed the examination last year; and all the successful students of the first class and the majority of those of the lower class have obtained appointments in the Government Service or under private gentlemen owning landed estates.

9. The expenditure on public instruction from public funds has advanced from 36 lakhs in 1892-93 and 40 lakhs in 1896-97 to 43 lakhs in 1901-1902. This increase has practically been given entirely from Provincial revenues as the increased expenditure of recent years on education shown in the accounts of District Funds is due to larger grants being made from Provincial Funds in aid of District Boards and to the constitution of District Boards in the four districts of the Chota Nagpur Division, and not to development of the resources of District Boards. There has been no increase during the quinquennium of expenditure on education from Municipal funds. The increased expenditure of public funds in recent years has been mainly on account of secondary education and inspection, and it is only since an allotment has been made in the current year from Imperial Revenues that a substantial increase of expenditure on primary schools has been sanctioned.

10. There was an increase during the quinquennium in the number of Inspecting Officers of all classes. The number of Inspectors was raised from 6 to 9, excluding the Inspector of European Schools, and an Inspector of Schools is now provided for each Commissioner's Division. An increase of 64 Sub-Inspectors of Schools has recently been sanctioned with the object of reducing the number of primary schools to be inspected by each Sub-Inspector and the size of the Sub-Inspector's circles. This increase was rendered necessary by the orders which abolish the system of remuneration of teachers on the results of public examinations of their pupils and which substitute a system of remuneration with reference to results ascertained on inspections of the schools in situ.

The Inspecting Officers of higher grades performed their inspection duties during the year 1901-1902 to the Director's satisfaction. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that, with the constitution of the new circles of Chota Nagpur and Chittagong, there will be fewer transfers of Inspectors next year.

All the Sub-Inspectors in the Burdwan Division, excepting those of Midnapore and Hooghly, and the Sub-Inspectors of Pabna, Darjeeling and Backergunge, failed to tour for the prescribed minimum of 200 days; the minimum number of 350 visits was not attained in the Sonthal Parganas, Midnapore, Rajshahi, Jalpaiguri and Darjeeling. These shortcomings should not be allowed to recur.

11. The Acting Lieutenant-Governor has much pleasure in acknowledging the services rendered by Mr. Pedler and during his absence by Mr. Slater as Director of the Department of Public Instruction.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

☁ dew; ☁ fog.

N.B.—In the weekly abstract from 30th November to 6th December 1902, read 78.2 for 87.2 as the maximum temperature of the 5th December 1902.

NOTIFICATION.

Oral Examination in the knowledge of English idiom and pronunciation prescribed in the case of Teachers of English and those who teach through the medium of English in Secondary Schools.

In order to carry out a recommendation of the Simla Educational Conference of 1901 which was also approved by the Government of India, His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal has been pleased to direct that all new teachers to be appointed in future and who are to teach English or other subjects through the medium of English in Secondary Schools, whether managed directly by the Education Department and by the District Boards and Municipalities, or aided by the Department or such local bodies, must have passed an oral examination in English idiom and pronunciation and hold certificates to that effect. It is proposed to enforce this rule from 1st April 1903. Masters who will teach only through the vernaculars are exempted from this examination.

2. Teachers who are already in service and vernacular teachers hereafter to be appointed shall not in future be promoted to posts which involve teaching in English or through the medium of English until they have passed the examination now prescribed.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that managers of unaided Schools will co-operate heartily in the object which the Government has in view, namely, the improvement of the teaching of English in Secondary Schools.

4. Inspectors of Schools, Principals and Professors of Colleges affiliated to the Calcutta University, and Principals of Training Colleges are authorised to hold this examination, provided that they themselves have been born in Great Britain and Ireland or in an English-speaking Colony and have been educated in the British Islands, or in any such British Colony. As there is no likelihood of the several offices referred to being always held by gentlemen possessing the qualifications specified, it is not possible to fix the various centres of the examination permanently, except in a few cases.

5. The Colleges and Offices below named are fixed as centres permanent for practical purposes, for holding the examination above prescribed, as in them European Officers of the Indian Educational Service appointed from England will ordinarily be available to conduct the Examination.

Calcutta.

Presidency College, Calcutta, European Principal and European Professors.
Calcutta Madrasa, ditto ditto.
Office of Inspector of European Schools, Bengal.

Patna.

Patna College, European Principal and European Professors.
Office of European Inspector of Schools, Patna Division.

Jalpaiguri.

Office of European Inspector of Schools, Rajshahi Division.

Dacca.

Dacca College, European Principal and European Professors.

Kurseong.

Victoria Training College, European Principal and European Teachers.

6. In addition to the above named officers, the Principals and Professors of aided and unaided Colleges affiliated to the Calcutta University who possess the requisite qualifications, will be competent to hold the examination and their co-operation in the matter is cordially invited.

7. Only those persons who have passed the University Entrance examination, or one of the higher examinations of Indian Universities, the High School examination of European Schools, or the Final School examination which it is proposed shortly to introduce, will be eligible to appear at the new examination, and such candidates will be at liberty to apply to any one of the Officers named above with a view to being examined. Arrangements for examination to be held by the Educational Officers under Government mentioned above will be made at once. The examination will be held quarterly in March, June, September and December on such dates as may be fixed by the Officers who are authorised to conduct this examination.

8. The examination of each candidate probably need not take much time. A candidate should be required to read short passages from English prose and poetry and should be put to a colloquial test in two or three different subjects.

9. It has also been decided that for the first year of operation of this order candidates shall not be required to pay fees, and that the question of the remuneration of Examiners need not be considered until it has been ascertained how many persons present themselves for examination.

10. The certificate may be given in the following form, which should be forwarded to the Director of Public Instruction for countersignature :—

"Certified that _____, son of _____, of _____ Village in the district of _____, who has presented a certificate of having passed the _____ examination in the year _____, has appeared at an oral examination held at _____ on the _____ for the purpose of testing his knowledge of English idiom and pronunciation, and that in these respects the Examinee is, in the opinion of the undersigned, qualified to teach English in Secondary Schools in Bengal."

And so on, Rs. 100 being added to the deposit for every bid additional to the extent of Rs. 400.

shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room and before the lot is registered in the sale-book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal receipts or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 3-30 P.M., in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the said notes must be redeemed by 1-30 P.M., or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal receipts or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6. The said Promissory Notes shall be absolutely payable in any event, and the amount thereof shall be absolutely forfeited upon such default as before mentioned, and the amount thereof shall not go or be credited in reduction of any loss on re-sale or expenses thereby incurred, but shall be recoverable whether such re-sale shall be had or not, or whether there shall be a loss on such re-sale or not.

7. The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the fifth condition, if remaining unredeemed at 3-30 P.M. of the fifth day following the day of sale, or 1-30 P.M., if the last day falls on a Saturday, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

8. No tender of money, Bank of Bengal receipts, or public securities, on account of opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before the prescribed time in clause 5 on the fifth day following the day of sale, will be afterwards accepted. Provided always that money so subsequently tendered may be taken in payment of the said Promissory Note, but such acceptance of money shall in no way entitle the payer thereof to any right to delivery of the lot or lots in respect whereof the said note was given, or to any of the rights of a purchaser thereof, or release the payer from liability for any unpaid balance of such notes or from the additional liability for the loss and expenses of such re-sale as provided for in clauses No. 5 and No. 6.

9. The opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 3-30 P.M. of the fifteenth day from the day of sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the opium must be paid for by 1-30 P.M.; and in case any lots of such opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good all expenses and any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale, and the liability for the loss or difference of price and expenses shall be in addition to, and wholly independent of, the amount of the deposit so forfeited.

10. Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests ordinarily required to be included in each certificate or order.

11. No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present conditions will be received in this office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale-book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

12. The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand render at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal receipts, or Government securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these conditions.

13. With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually by Rs. 5 at a time until a bid is obtained; and the first bond fide bidder for a lot, after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described, shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these conditions.

14. The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complete the said twenty-five.

15. In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

16. The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue:—No. 1, Certificate of the opium advertised for sale; No. 2, Report of the examination of such opium.

17. The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured at the Patna Factory and the opium manufactured at the Ghazipur Factory for the year 1901-1902, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug, when packed at the Patna and Ghazipur Factories, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

18. Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board of Revenue entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.

H. WHEELER,

Secretary.

I am directed to forward a copy of letter

No. 6635S.R. of to-day's date to the Secretary, Calcutta Import Trade Association, conveying the decision of the Government of India with regard to the assessment to customs duty of cotton prints imported in lengths of 2½ yards and upwards. I am to request that this decision may be communicated to the Collectors of Customs in

No. 6635S.R., dated the 15th December 1902.

From—The Secretary to the Govt. of India, Finance and Commerce Dept.,

To—The Secretary, Calcutta Import Trade Association.

I AM now directed to communicate the decision of the Government of India on the question raised in your letter No. 36M., dated 2nd June 1902, regarding the customs duty payable on cotton prints imported in lengths of 2½ yards and upwards. The Committee of your Association states that similar goods made in the Indian mills pay an excise duty of 2½ per cent., and contends that it is unfair to levy a duty of 5 per cent. on imported goods, and thus to protect the local article to the extent of 1½ per cent ad valorem.

2. The Government of India do not consider that the provisions of the Cotton Duties Act, 1896 (II of 1896), are relevant to the point at issue, which is simply whether the goods are "cotton piece-goods" or "apparel" within the meaning in which these terms are used in the fourth schedule of the Indian Tariff Act, 1894 (VIII of 1894). "Piece-goods" are lengths of textiles manufactured as material for conversion by subsequent manipulation into articles for wearing apparel, domestic use, etc. The prints, of which a sample was forwarded with your letter, are finished articles with a selvage and a fringe at either end. They have already received the manipulation preparing them for use as apparel, and they are, therefore, in the opinion of the Government of India, taxable as apparel at 5 per cent. ad valorem.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly of Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph. The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.
